Double-Decking Two Parking Lots Is Too Expensive

San Rafael Council Decides To Abandon One Of Projects

Double-decking two San Rafael municipal parking lots will cost so much more than previously estimated that the city council may abandon one of the projects.
The council last night was handed a report by City engineer Dominic J. Selmi which set the cost of second-deck construction of the Third Street-Lootens Place lot at $221,000, and the Fifth Avenue-C Street lot at $118,000.
The cost estimates had been worked out by Roy Hoffman of the firm of Whitlow, Hoffman and Albritton. Their combined total exceeded by $65,000 the estimate of D. Jackson Faustman of Sacramento, hired by the city last year as parking consultant.

Hoffman defended his estimates as being in line with those made in 1959 by W. C. Tate, a San Francisco contractor. "I don't know what basis Mr. Faustman used," he said.
Paul Inglesby of Stone and Youngberg, financial consultants, said an increase in the proposed $250,000 parking district bond issue "would be unwise." The new figures would bring total cost of the double-decking and its financing to $127,900 more than the bond issue would yield, he said: "The question is whether your reserves are sufficient to cover this increase."

Doubtful they would be, the council put off action, and listened with interest to a proposal by B Street merchants, with Andrew Pedrolis as spokesman, that a lot at Third and B streets be purchased to provide 20 off-street parking spaces. Pedrolis estimated the property could be obtained for $60,000.

"B Street is the forgotten street as far as off-street parking is concerned," said Pedrolis. He presented a petition signed by 20 B Street businessmen urging the lot there be considered.

At suggestion of Councilman L. H. Bud Baar, the council instructed City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to ask Faustman to take another look at the overall parking picture, including consideration of the B Street lot.

The council was informed, too, that a landlord is getting anxious for a lease on a city parking lot already installed—an all-day lot on Pacific Gas and Electric Co. property at Third and Lindero streets.

Andersen said the lot now is "carrying its weight" and will pay the five-year lease asked by PG&E and the improvements put in by the city.

Baar pointed out, however, that the chamber of commerce had "made certain commitments and should abide by them" to have a part of the lease underwritten by merchants.

Andersen said he had been unsuccessful in getting a written agreement from Fred F. Enemark, last year's chamber president. The council directed him to try his luck with Robert W. F. Severin, this year's president, and authorized the mayor and city clerk to execute the lease if the chamber of commerce underwriting is assured.

First Prospective Juror Rejected

DALLAS (AP)—Defense attorneys in Jack Ruby's murder trial rejected the first candidate for the jury today with a peremptory challenge.

A moment earlier, the state accepted the candidate, Hilgard M. Stone, an illustrator for an aerospace plant.

Prior to his challenge, chief defense counsel Melvin Belli moved that Stone be disqualified "for cause."

Sonoman In Running For Bagley Job

A Sonoma County teacher announced today he is seeking the Democratic nomination to oppose Assemblyman William T. Bagley, San Rafael Republican incumbent.

James E. Pockrus of Rohnert Park, teacher at Gravenstein Union School in Sebastopol and owner of the Rohnert Park Bookkeeping Service, will run for the Seventh District (Marin-Sonoma) Assembly post.

"My position on issues of importance to this district will be forthcoming within the next two weeks," said Pockrus.

Pockrus, 45, was discharged from the Army as master sergeant in 1957, after 18 years of service. He attended Santa Rosa Junior College and San Francisco State college and won his teaching credential in 1960.

He was active in the congressional campaigns of Clem Miller and William Grader. He was also Sonoma County co-chairman of the Robert Carrow for Assembly Committee during the 1962 elections.

Pockrus lives with his wife, Joy, and their three children, James Jr., 20; Lois, 16, and Richard Ian, 6.

Vote Deadline

Voters must register by Thursday to be qualified to vote April 14 in city elections in all cities except San Rafael, and on a school bond issue in San Anselmo.

DEATH TRAP?

Councilman Wants Old Tunnel Sealed

San Rafael City Councilman Harry A. Barbier called last night for city action to abate a longtime hazard.

"Before some kid gets killed, let's get that thing boarded up," Barbier urged fellow councilmen.

He referred to an old water tunnel which runs some 300 feet back into a steep Chula Vista hillside between Coleman and Graceland drives.

Mayor John F. McInnis and City Atty. David Menary Jr. told Barbier the tunnel is on private property and the city can do nothing about it.

"I used to go in there when I was a kid," added Menary. Councilman Fred Jensen suggested it might be used for a bomb shelter.

Barbier, however, insisted the tunnel is dangerous. "Kids go in there all the time," he said, Menary promised to research the law to see if there is any method by which the city might force closing of the tunnel. Also, he said, he will see whether R. E. Nolan and Sons, who own the property, See TUNNEL, page 4

Veterans' Memorial Building Plan Hits Solid Opposition

A proposal that the planned veterans' memorial building be placed on the county fairgrounds and financed partly with funds now slated for an amphitheater ran into solid opposition from veterans at today's session of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Pockrus lives with his wife, Joy, and their three children, James Jr., 20; Lois, 16, and Richard Ian, 6.

No one was present to speak for performing arts groups who have been urging the amphitheater.

A suggestion that part of the fairground development be financed through a lease arrangement with private investors drew an adverse reaction from Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker. He called the idea illegal and costly.

All the proposals were in a letter to the board from County Administrator Alan Bruce, who said Auditor-Controller

Michael Mitchell and Public Works Director Donald R. Frost had helped draft the letter.

W. P. Duhamel, speaking for the veterans, said he believed an adequate building could be built at the Civic Center for less than one million dollars.

He said that the fund for the veterans' building has been increasing at just about the same pace as the rise in building costs, so that the fund, in effect, is standing still.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr disagreed, saying the fund increase is about 12 per cent per year, while costs go up about 5 per cent.

Behr also said he is not convinced that a building designed for the performing arts, with a sloping floor, would not See VETS, page 4

Hot Election Spots Pop Up In Marin

Thursday Noon Is Deadline

Mill Valley and Sausalito shaped up today as the hot spots for April 14 municipal elections in Marin.

Contests for city council seats appeared assured in all the nine cities which will hold elections except Ross and Corte Madera. A threat of a contest over the "horse problem" in Ross seemed to have galloped away.

Thursday noon is deadline for filing for city positions at stake in the elections.

MORE PETITIONS

The fifth candidate in Sausalito, where three seats are at issue, filed today in the person of attorney James B. Leech, one of two lawyers who defended ex-police Chief Howard Goerndt in his fight against ouster. Three more petitions are out, indicating a possible eight-candidate race.

Two more candidates filed today in Mill Valley, bringing the total to four for three seats—and two more sets of petitions are out.

Novato has three candidates filed for three positions, with four more petitions out; Belvedere, two for two, with three more out; Fairfax, two for two, with six more out; Larkspur, three for three, with one more out; San Anselmo, two for two, with one more out. Ross has the standard formula three: three candidates for three council openings.

NO OPPOSITION

No city clerk or city treasurer candidate as yet faced opposition.

Leech, who lives with his wife and two sons at 95 Central Avenue, Sausalito, said revision of the civil service review procedures and developments of the waterfront "so it can be beautified with the interests of all taxpayers at heart" are among his aims, if elected. He and attorney Harry Wainwright defended Goerndt against ouster as police chief by City Mgr. Charles A. Brown.

The matter was finally compromised with Goerndt accepting reinstatement as sergeant. Already in the race in Sausalito are also incumbent Carl W. Gabrielson, newspaper reporter Melvin S. Wax, artist Serge Trubach (who has tried thrice before), and—most colorful of the candidates—Mrs. Marsha Owen, proprietor of the Valhalla Inn, who is better See VOTE, page 4

ROGER P. GARETY Resigns as D.A.

BRUCE B. BALES New district attorney

Bales Moves Up As Garety Quits Post

Bruce B. Bales, 40, will become Marin County district attorney on April 15, succeeding Roger P. Garety.

Bales, assistant district attorney since 1960, was promoted to the $16,000-per-year job today by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The action came immediately after the supervisors had accepted Garety's resignation "with regrets."

Garety announced he will leave April 15 to join attorneys John G. Buresh and P. Roy Vallarino in the Albert Building in San Rafael. The new firm will be known as Buresh, Garety and Vallarino.

Garety has been in the district attorney's office for 13 years, the last three and one-half as district attorney. He said he is entering private practice "in the interests of my family and my future."

Bales, his successor, became a deputy district attorney in 1953 and assistant to Garety in 1960. He was graduated from University of California in 1946 and from its law school in 1949. He was in private practice in San Rafael for three years before joining the D.A.'s office.

Bales lives in San Rafael with his wife, Jo Ann, and their three children, Tommy, 14; Elena, 10, and Bobby, 4. Garety became deputy district attorney in 1951, and assistant in 1953. When William O. Weissich resigned in August in 1960, Garety was named district attorney. He was returned to office unopposed in the June See BALES, page 4

Tax Deductions For Political Contributions Appear Out

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House and Senate negotiations hammering out a compromise tax cut bill tentatively decided today to strip the big measure of a provision to allow tax deductions for political contributions.

The provision, which would have cost the treasury as much as 25 million dollars in revenues in a presidential election year, was added to the administration's priority tax reduction measure by the Senate. It was not in the House version.

Backers of the bill hoped the House-Senate conference group could clear it today and thus push it toward final congressional passage this week.

The 14-member group is striving to resolve differences between an 11.2-billion-dollar tax cut measure approved by the House and an 11.8-billion-dollar measure passed by the Senate.

The Senate added the election-year feature to permit taxpayers who itemize on their returns to deduct up to $50 ($100 for a married couple) for contributions made to political parties or candidates.

Even though voting appeared light from a noon check, it was still ahead of the noon turnout last Oct. 8 when the bonds were defeated.

The Independent Journal's spot check today showed a turnout of 8.5 per cent. At noon on Oct. 8, the check showed a 7 per cent turnout.

At stake are a 3.3-million-dollar bond issue for general construction and site purchase and construction of two new schools, and $670,000 for eight multi-purpose rooms.

Both measures require two-thirds approval for passage. Polls will remain open until 8 p.m. today.

Rebels Overthrow African Republic

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (AP)—Military rebels overthrew Gabon's President Leon M'Ba in a mid-night coup and former a revolutionary council to govern that West African republic, rebel broadcasts from Libreville said today.

The fifth upheaval of 1964 among new African nations, this affected a former French colony of 440,000 population that is the home of Dr. Albert Schweitzer. Dr. Schweitzer for half a century has had a jungle hospital at Lambarene, 100 miles southeast of Libreville, the capital and chief Atlantic port.

There was no mention of bloodshed.

Accounts from Libreville indicated the coup was intended to end a power struggle between President M'Ba, 62, and his chief political rival J. H. Aubame, who has been both a national assemblyman and chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Radio Gabon broadcast a proclamation that a new provisional government will be formed tomorrow.

Johnson's Day 'Too Much Overtime'

DETROIT (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson's "18-hour work day at the White House" doesn't square with his administration's proposal to cut down on overtime work, says banker David Rockefeller.

Rockefeller, president of Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, compared the White House work day with the administration's double pay for overtime work proposal in a speech last night. He called this ironic.

Rockefeller, 48, youngest of the five Rockefeller brothers, spoke to the Financial Executive Institute of Detroit.

Rockefeller's talk was an expansion of a news conference in which he attacked the double overtime proposal as an attempt to pressure industry into hiring more workers.

U.S. Cuts Pipe At Guantanamo

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—Irrked by charges that the Guantanamo Naval Base had stolen water from a Cuban pipeline, Rear Adm. John D. Bulkeley issued an order to "cut the damn thing in half."

So while Cuban military guards watched, four Cuban workmen from the base went out yesterday and severed the 14-inch line from the Yateras Reservoir.

The salty admiral said he made the decision to cut the pipeline after Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze asked him whether there was any truth in Cuba's charges that the Americans were stealing water from the pipe by using a special suction machine.

General Found With Dead Wife

NEW YORK (AP)—A retired Air Force general, victim of a mysterious shooting in Oklahoma last year, was found mumbling incoherently and suffering from malnutrition in a hotel suite in which his wife lay dead.

Maj. Gen. Thomas J. Gent Jr., 52, was taken to a veterans hospital. Police believe his wife, Martha Louise, 54, died of natural causes and that Gent was suffering from shock. They were found Saturday, but the incident was made public only late yesterday.

Police found two bottles of sedatives.

There was an ample supply of food and beverages in the housekeeping suite, police said.

Last June 24 the general, then commander of the 32nd North American Air Defense Command Region, was found critically wounded.

Less than 24 hours before, Mrs. Gent had been arrested for resisting arrest.

The Air Force said Gent's wound—caused by a .25 caliber automatic—was self-inflicted. The Air Force did not say if it was accidental or intentional.

Joint Policing Unit Set Up In Saigon As Terror Mounts

Special U.S. Guards Put At American Installations

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—The U.S. Army maintained special guards on American installations in Saigon today to counter a Communist terror campaign that has killed three Americans and wounded more than 50 in the past two nights.

U.S. and Vietnamese officials also set up a Joint Security Council to work for greater safety for the thousands of U.S. servicemen and civilians and their families in the Vietnamese capital.

American military policemen stood guard at schools attended by American children and rode on school buses. U.S. soldiers patrolled other American installations.

Some of the same Vietnamese police strongarm men who were assigned last summer to roughing up Buddhists and Western newsmen were on duty at the American schools along with the U.S. service-men.

They included Inspector Lam Van Ly, one of Saigon's most feared judo experts and strong-arm men under President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime.

About 2,500 American civilians live in Saigon, including military wives and children. The total of Americans in the capital, counting servicemen and officials, is believed to be about 10,000.

U.S. officials denied any consideration was being given to sending civilian dependents back to the United States.

The terrorist campaign continued last night with an attack from ambush on three American military men. One was wounded slightly when a grenade was hurled at their car.

Unconfirmed reports said the Viet Cong rebels were circulating leaflets saying "Two Americans a day."

The Joint Security Council composed of three Vietnamese and three U.S. security officers, held its first meeting yesterday. Premier Nguyen Khanh assured U.S. Charge d'Affaires David G. Nes, that the Vietnamese government is giving special attention to the American security problem.

Communist terrorists have made six attacks on Americans in Saigon the past three weeks, killing six and wounding 85.

Khanh's government also was investigating possible involvement of some Vietnamese policemen in recent Viet Cong terrorism.

Congressmen Support Supreme Court Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reaction among congressmen indicated support today for the Supreme Court ruling that House members should represent equal numbers of people.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and unsuccessful sponsor for 15 years of a bill calling for equality in congressional districts, said he was "happy about the court's momentous decision."

Rep. Silvio Conte (R-Mass.) said: "This has been long coming. I can't see any fault in it."

Analysts at Republican headquarters said the Republicans probably will gain seats in the House as a result of the high court's decision. But Democratic spokesmen said "the majority party is the Democratic party and it cannot but benefit from any move which attempts to give all citizens as close as is practicable" an equal voice in electing House members.

House leaders from both parties blasted a dissenting opinion by Associate Justice John M. Harlan, who argued that the verdict "casts grave doubt on the constitutionality of the House of Representatives."

Harlan said the ruling "places in jeopardy the seats of almost all the members of the present House of Representatives," because only 37 of the 432 present members were elected from districts that conform with the court's ruling.

"Of course the House is constitutional," asserted Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma.

The court's decision was by a 6-2 vote with Justice Tom Clark concurring on some points and dissenting on others.

Nonaligned Countries Planning Summit

CAIRO (AP)—Invitations went out today to the 25 nations of the 1961 Belgrade conference to send representatives to Ceylon to lay the groundwork for a new summit meeting of nonaligned countries.

A spokesman for the United Arab Republic, which has joined Yugoslavia and Ceylon in seeking a new conference, said the preparatory meeting in Colombo March 25 would seek "a new definition" of nonalignment.

NOT A VERY CONSERVATIVE GAG

It was hardly a conservative way of doing things, but this heckler gets some unorthodox treatment at the hand of the man behind him. The choking off of remarks took place yesterday during a speech by Britain Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home before the National Conference of Young Conservatives in Friends Hall, London. Home's subject was Cyprus. (AP Wirephoto)

Peace Plan Held Near For Cyprus

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain and Cyprus are reportedly agreed on principles for a plan to police the turbulent Mediterranean island with an international force while an impartial mediator seeks peace between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

The British-Cypriot plan also calls for a consultative committee of U.N. members.

The two nations reportedly agreed on general terms of a Security Council resolution after the council postponed the start of its debate on the Cyprus crisis until this afternoon.

The resolution would avoid the controversial issue of how the international force should be set up and would merely agree that there should be such a force.

It would also appeal to all countries to respect the territorial integrity of the island, an appeal which Cyprus had planned to propose in a separate resolution.

Shelley Replacement Vote Today In City

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Voters in a heavily Democratic working class area choose today among eight candidates seeking to replace Mayor John F. Shelley in the House of Representatives.

COUNCIL PONDER'S PAY TELEVISION

Disagreement Results In Delaying Discussion To March 2 Meeting

Pay television engaged the attention of the San Rafael City Council briefly last night, and will do so again March 2. Councilman L. H. Bud Baar moved that the council adopt a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to be placed on the November ballot outlawing pay TV in California. He had at hand a copy of the resolution — the same adopted by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors. Councilman Fred Jensen quickly seconded the motion, but not until Councilman Charles W. Aby declared, "We have no business adopting such a resolution . . . It's private enterprise."

"As a citizen I'm for free TV," put in City Atty. David Menary Jr., "but I'm certainly against amending the constitution for such a purpose." "The people should be able to decide," argued Jensen. "Nobody's going to force you to take pay TV," countered Aby.

It was Mayor John F. McInnis who prevailed, however. "I would suggest we sit on

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A top agricultural spokesman said yesterday the industry is ready to launch a massive recruitment program to replace Mexican bracero farm workers with domestic employees after this year, but it doesn't want it to become a 1965 version of the Grapes of Wrath.

John V. Newman of Ventura, representing the Council of California Growers, told the State Board of Agriculture that the council is realistic enough to doubt that there is any hope the program if importing Mexican farm workers will be extended beyond its present cutoff date of Dec. 31. While agriculture stands ready to draw upon the nation's unemployed to fill the gap left by the departing braceros — there were 63,000 of the Mexican nationals employed at the peak of 1963—it is going to need some help from the state.

Much of this help would be in the form of surveying how many workers would be needed, where these workers are available, and what preparations would have to be made for them.

Marin City Men Are Sentenced

Two Marin City men accused of stealing coins from a Mill Valley self-service laundry were handed county jail and youth authority sentences yesterday in superior court.

Glen Earl Goff, 24, of 165 Drake Avenue, was sentenced to Marin County Jail for 90 days and ordered on probation for three years. Robert Lee Burton, 18, of 33 Cole Drive, was sent to the California Youth Authority.

The men, arrested last Oct. 23 by Mill Valley police, appeared before Judge Richard M. Sims Jr.

Tree Caretakers Now San Rafael Employees

The City of San Rafael last night acquired its own tree department—one already in operation.

The department consists of the Vaning Tree Service—William M. Vaning and his three-man crew.

For many years, Vaning has cared for the city's street trees under contract. It was his own idea, he told the council, that he and his crew become city employees rather than contractors.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen recommended Vaning and his men be hired. He said there is ample money in the tree maintenance budget. This was the only mention made, however, of the cost of adding the men to the payroll.

The council approved unanimously. What the pay scales will be must, apparently, await the March 2 council meeting—which will be on the night of Vaning and company's second day as City employees.

The council turned down a proposal by Anderson that tree maintenance be put under the parks and recreation department. Vaning said he would prefer to continue under the public works department, with which he has worked the last eight years as contractor.

He and his men will prune and spray trees and shrubbery in city parks also, however.

Vaning said about 75 per cent of his time has been spent on city work. The remaining 25 per cent can be devoted to the park greenery and "better care of the street trees," he said.

"I want to say," declared Mayor John F. McInnis, "that the care and attention you personally have given the city's trees is wonderful. I think it's wonderful for the city to acquire you as permanent staff."

TV Repair Man Fined In Stolen Goods Case

Santa Venetia television repair man Walter V. Ullner was fined $500 and placed on three years probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court for receiving stolen goods.

Ullner had pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving loot stolen from Sausalito homes by jazz trumpeter and rug cleaner Byron Berry of Sausalito. Berry pleaded guilty to the burglary charge earlier and is serving a six months sentence in county jail.

San Rafael Is Losing Planner —DuBiel To Work For State

San Rafael will lose another city planner at the end of this month.

The city council last night accepted the resignation of David DuBiel, acting planner since James R. Garrett resigned last September. DuBiel announced he has accepted a position with the State Office of Planning in Sacramento.

DuBiel has served as acting planner at the $600 per month salary he received as planning technician before Garrett's departure. He said after the council meeting, however, that this did not cause his decision to leave. He said he had applied for the state job last July.

In his new position, which will pay more, DuBiel will work on administering the state program for planning assistance to cities under 50,000 population, and on the urban renewal program.

The city planning department also includes Joan Castillon, assistant planner; one planning technician, Edward Low, and a secretary, Fern Vincent.

Local Firemen's Ball Due Saturday

The 90th annual San Rafael Volunteer Firemen's Ball will begin at 9 p.m. Saturday at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club, San Rafael.

A no-host social hour will precede the event at 8 p.m. Music will be by Jack Seltenrich and his six-piece orchestra from San Francisco. San Rafael Fire Chief Vance Trivett is dance committee chairman.

A spokesman said about 3,000 tickets are mailed out annually, and more than 350 persons attended last year's event. Proceeds go toward welfare and relief of members—about 40 regular firemen and 25 volunteers.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Accepted the notice of completion of Loch Lomond Highlands Assessment District.
2. Passed unanimously an amendment to the street tree ordinance to remove the ban on planting of evergreen trees.
3. Continued to March 2 for setting of hearing an appeal by the Draper Companies from planning commission denial of a use permit for the Northgate Garden Apartments. Robert Loberg, president of the Terra Linda Valley Homeowners Assn., informed the council he had submitted a petition against the project signed by 970 residents.
4. Passed a resolution of intention to resubdivide 45 lots in Marin Bay Unit 2-A into 36 lots, and set public hearing for March 16, after informing attorney Kenneth Jones of the Marin Bay Assessment District that councilmen objected to his fee of $5,600 in connection with the change and felt it should be borne by the developer (the Draper Companies) rather than included in the assessments.
5. Removed a one-foot non-access strip easement at entry of the Beryl Lane seven-lot subdivision on Forbes Avenue.
6. Directed bids be called for demolishing four buildings between First and Third streets which the city has purchased for westerly widening of Third Street. Public Works Supt. Norris Rawles said these would leave only the Pierce Building and E Street School to be removed for the project. He estimated the cost at $6,000.
7. Directed City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to report on the number of city employees who have outside jobs with permission of their department heads, and on policies of other cities regarding outside employment, after Andersen asked for a policy.
8. Offered to pay $50 toward a $96 bill incurred by Mrs. William McKeown of 220 D Street for removal of roots which clogged a sewer line. She presented a claim quoting William R. Lehmann, plumbing contractor, as saying the roots were those of a city street tree.
9. Directed Rawles to set up monthly meetings, possibly luncheons, for himself, City Engineer Dominic J. Selmi, and George M. Henderson and John H. LaNoue, district managers of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., for discussions of undergrounding utility lines.
10. Accepted with thanks gifts of land for widening Second Street from Saccone Brothers and Henry Hess Co.
11. Added $200 to the police department's conference and travel budget.
12. Approved hiring Harold P. Hall as yard clerk at $325 per month, third step on the pay schedule, after Baar declared, "I don't see how anyone can live on $297" the first-step salary recommended by the city manager.

Amazing. In 83 years, she hasn't changed a bit.

It's true, of course, that she wears different-looking clothes these days. And a different kind of hair-do. And the very latest type of earphones. Ross School Teacher Qualifications Hiked Qualifications for teachers in Ross School District were heightened last night by district trustees.

Instead of requiring only a credential obtained through four years of college training, the board voted teachers must have five years of college training, plus one year of prior experience, and specialized departmentalized teachers must have majored or received 30 semester units in the subjects for which they are responsible.

"We are getting away from the old-fashioned teacher who teaches everything and now are having teachers handle a single subject for as many as four grades," explained trustee Ray A. Hubbard.

The Ross School District board also:

1. Approved schematic drawings by architect Martin Rosse for the proposed school addition of seven classrooms plus office and workroom space, on land south of the present school grounds.

2. Authorized inclusion in the fiscal 1965 budget of funds for two portable classrooms and hiring of two teachers to bring second and fourth grades down to the recommended 25 pupils per class. The classes now range from 32 to 36 pupils.

3. Adopted a new teacher pay schedule retaining the present minimum of $5,250 per year but increasing the maximum from $9,586 to $10,257.

4. Voted to have the incinerator removed from the middle of the school grounds, because of smog control regulations the school has not used it this year.

5. Discussed with concern the theft of bicycles left overnight in Ross Common, but reached no decision.

6. Hired Henry Banke of 53 Spindrift Passage, Corte Madera, retired Army lieutenant colonel and former teacher, to teach social studies and English in seventh and eighth grades, replacing Mrs. Linda Kazian, resigned.

Trustee L. G. MacLise was absent.

known as Sally Stanford. Mrs. Owen ran a close third two years ago with two openings on the council.

Councilman Howard Sievers has indicated he will not seek another term; Councilman Michael Harris—who, like Wax, is a reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle—has not yet made up his mind.

Filing today in Mill Valley were incumbent Michael Worum and Phillip Finn III, an accountant backed by City Treasurer William G. Rutherford (whose job becomes appointive this year). Already in the race there were George E. Wickham, a civil engineer, and incumbent George D. Monardo. George Blackwell, third incumbent whose term expires, has said he would not run again.

Mayor M. E. (Babe) Silva took out petitions for nomination for another council term in Novato today. Already filed for council there are ex-Mayor J. Wayne Womack, William Jack Adams, and Douglas M. Merrill. Terms of Silva and Councilmen Everett Pozzi and John Angeloni expire.

G. Roger Felton today became the second candidate to file for Belvedere City Council. He is a designer with Schmidt Lithograph Co. in San Francisco, and lives with his wife and baby in one of Belvedere's oldest houses at 201 Bayview Avenue. All three Feltons attend city council meetings.

Already filed in Belvedere was Thomas S. Price. And three more sets of papers are out.

A. Nelson Gamas and George A. Pagni have filed for Fairfax Council and four others have taken out petitions. Neither of the incumbents, Mayor W. E. Radtke and Councilman Stan Wilsey, is among them. Radtke has said he will not run.

Larkspur's candidates so far are Earl J. O'Grady, Henry Brocco, and incumbent Vaughn Marker. Robert Parker has taken out petitions. Other incumbents whose terms expire are Lesly A. Daveler and James P. Lienkaemper.

In San Anselmo, Mayor Arthur W. Smith and Duane C. Ragan have filed, and John M. Reichmuth, second incumbent whose term expires, has taken out petitions.

The threat of contest came in Ross when attorney Sol Abrams, who has sought—so far without success—to outlaw horses from "downtown" Ross, took out two sets of petitions.

Abrams said today, however, that he had abandoned the idea of running for council, although "if a sizable number of citizens are interested in forming a progressive and aggressive group to get action on stricter regulation of horses . . . I will join with them."

Ross candidates are William Peter McAndrew and incumbents Harry C. Scott and William C. Bricca.

Quietest election appeared in prospect in Corte Madera, where incumbent Councilmen Charles F. Pendleton and William W. Collier filed their petitions yesterday. No one else has yet taken out a petition there.

Disputed Duplex Gets Variances

Cutting off a corner of the roof on Lloyd L. Seitzinger's new but untenanted duplex at 20 Millwood Street was avoided when the Mill Valley City Council last night approved two variances and reversed a planning commission decision.

The council voted 4-1, Councilman George Blackwell voting "no," to permit a 1.93-foot setback on the north side of the duplex, where a three-foot setback had been approved by planners. At a line set by City Engineer Stanley M. Bala. (City ordinance calls for a five-foot setback.)

It voted 4-1, Blackwell again voting "no," to permit the roof the northeast corner of the house to extend into the sideyard about seven inches.

The action, after two hours discussion, means Seitzinger can rent the duplex, which has been vacant the three months since he built it, after he complies with planning commission requests to install a screen, erect a driveway "bumper," and reduce the number of garages from three to two.

"This is an attempt of trying to cram too much building on too little space. The sooner developers recognize this, the less trouble we will have," said Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks after the decisions were made. He added that the city and all parties were in fault.

"This applicant is still in violation," said F. J. Grew, who lives in the duplex to the north of Seitzinger's and who requested building and occupancy permits be refused.

Julius H. Selinger, Seitzinger's attorney, appealed planning commission denial to allow the projection and the existing sideyard setback.

Sheeks said alternatives were granting the variances or cutting off a corner of the building. Selinger said his client was willing to saw off six or eight inches but that it was a matter of "arguing over blades of grass."

Grew asked City Atty. Leand H. Jordan if the duplex is legal now and was told the building variances were granted as a result of illegal procedure and so "the building was an illegal building."

Father Dullea To Be Monsignor

Rev. Edward Dullea, principal of Marin Catholic High School in Kentfield, is one of 13 Bay Area priests who will be elevated soon to the title of very reverend monsignor by Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken, the Archdiocese of San Francisco announced today.

Time and date of investiture ceremonies in San Francisco will be set later.

Father Dullea, teacher at Marin Catholic for 12 years and principal the past two years, was graduated from St. Patrick's Seminary, Menlo Park, in 1946. After services as assistant pastor at St. Anselmo's Church, San Anselmo, he received a master's degree at Catholic University, Washington, D.C., before joining the Marin Catholic faculty.

1962 election, for a four-year term.

Garety received his law degree from University of San Francisco and was admitted to the bar in 1949. He served as deputy under then Dist. Atty. Edmund G. Brown in San Francisco before coming to Marin.

Garety lives in Greenbrae with his wife and three children.

Two New Law Firms Are Being Created

The San Rafael law firm of Buresh, Smith, Truett, Durham and Vallarino will disband and reorganize into two separate firms, headed by John G. Buresh and Peter Allen Smith, the two principals announced today.

Buresh will remain in the Albert Building, heading a three-man firm including retiring Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety and P. Roy Vallarino.

Smith and his other associates will move to new offices at 1534 Fifth Avenue, probably next month. Associated with him will be Harold Truett, Jerome Durham and a new partner, Robert Conn.

Conn, 37, is a Tamalpais High School graduate. He attended the United States Naval Academy and won his law degree from University of California. He has had about five years experience in Fresno, specializing in corporate law and taxes. For the past two years, Conn was a deputy district attorney in Modesto.

Smith will continue as Marin County public defender, and Durham as assistant public defender.

Youth Hurt In Fight Out Of Hospital

Richard E. Williams, 17-year-old College of Marin student who suffered a broken jaw in a downtown San Rafael "rumble" Feb. 9, was released from Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco late yesterday.

Hospital officials said he plans to resume his college studies.

Grew asked City Atty. Leand H. Jordan if the duplex is legal now and was told the building variances were granted as a result of illegal procedure and so "the building was an illegal building."

The parents told Sergeant Foster they plan no filing of assault charges.

Richard was injured in a fracas in the 1500 block of Fourth Street involving an estimated 50 teen-agers in cars.

He reportedly was with two other Negro youths and a white boy when a row developed with other youths.

Cause of the fight was still not known by police today. Richard, a college freshman, was taken to the hospital by a companion.

11 Citizens Hear College Report

Eleven members of the 130-member citizens advisory committee to the College of Marin showed up last night to hear college board members and president Stephen E. Epler explain state financing procedures.

Epler told the committee that the junior colleges were seeking to raise the level of state aid from 25 per cent to slightly over 33 per cent.

Petitions for TOPS (Total Opportunity in the Public Schools) were circulated at the meeting.

Mrs. Schultz Tells History Of Recalls

A historical review of recall, "the most powerful device in the hands of the voters to directly exercise power," was presented by Mrs. Vera Schultz of Mill Valley, candidate for the state senate, to more than 100 persons attending an open forum of the San Geronimo Valley Assn. last night.

Mrs. Schultz said recall originated in Switzerland, and made its first appearance in the United States when it was included in the city charter of Los Angeles in 1903.

Only 12 states, a majority of them in the West, have procedures for recall outlined in their constitutions, she said.

Four candidates for county supervisors from Fourth District, spoke briefly: George H. Ludy, incumbent; James Marshall, Thomas T. Storer, Larry A. Moulton, association president.

Next meeting of the association will be held at 8 p.m. March 2, at Lagunitas School.

be suitable as a veterans' memorial. He said the only veterans heard from were those which were organized. He contended these groups represent only about one-eighth of the county's veterans.

Leydecker asked that the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation be asked to make a restudy of the master plan for the Civic Center and fair development which the architects have agreed to do without charge. He said the study should emphasize alternative uses of funds now reserved for the amphitheater.

Behr cast the lone vote against the proposal, saying he did not want to close the door to use of the state pari-mutuel funds, from the amphitheater project, in the auditorium.

Duhamel said using state money would give the state "too much control over operation of the building."

Supervisor William D. Fusesman agreed.

Under Bruce's proposal, the veterans' building would have been placed on the fairgrounds, would have cost about 1.5 million dollars, and would have been a part of a future fair pavilion.

The supervisors agreed unanimously with another Bruce suggestion, that the Stanford Research Institute be approached for cost estimates on a study on the economic feasibility of future fair development.

Unification Election Date To Be Considered

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization will consider setting an election date on the proposed unification of the Tamalpais Union High School District at a meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the office of the county superintendent of schools, Civic Center.

The Augmented Committee voted last month in favor of unification of the district including 11 elementary school districts.

Town Council Sticks By Residence Ruling

Corte Madera Town Council stuck closely last night to its recent decision that town employees must reside within the municipality's limits, denying one-year waiver requests by two men.

A third request, however, was granted on the premise that the employee had not been told of the policy at time of fulltime employment.

Refused were requests of Willard Clark, assistant superintendent of public works, who resides in San Rafael, and Roland Garcia, maintenance man, also of San Rafael. Both became permanent employees last Dec. 1 and therefore have until May to take up Corte Madera residence.

Request of Ann Donovan, police clerk living in San Rafael, was granted. She began as part-time, with no residence restriction, and was not told of necessity of residence change at time she became permanent. Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow said.

Brandow's suggested change in an ordinance to expand the town's residence requirements to a five-mile radius was rejected by council Jan. 20.

Corte Madera Plans Green Belt Ordinance

The Town of Corte Madera moved last night to develop a program for slope construction in the so-called green belt areas and ordered preparation of an interim ordinance to delay building there until such a policy is formulated.

City Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow said the town hopes to prevent a multitude of small lots in steep wooded areas.

The green belt areas roughly fringe the town's southern limits.

The council instructed City Atty. Sherrod S. Davis to prepare an interim ordinance as an emergency measure until a revised zoning district can be created, based on a slope policy.

It then also retained the town's planning consultants, Livingston and Blaney of San Francisco, to draft an amendment to the zoning ordinance to create a slope policy. Both actions were recommended by the planning commission. The planning firm, whose fee was estimated from $500 to $1,500, will work with the commission in developing the policy.

The ordinance will be introduced at an adjourned council meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the town hall annex.

San Anselmo TV Repair Shop Is Approved Over Protests

A one year use permit to operate a radio and television repair service at his home at 117 Scenic Avenue was granted to Thomas M. Fordyce by the San Anselmo Planning Commission 4-2 last night, over objections of several neighbors.

Commissioners Jerry W. Lloyd and Edward L. Nordmann voted "no" after a public hearing that filled the city council chambers. Lloyd held that granting the permit was "too great a penetration of an R-1 (single residential) zone."

The permit was granted on condition that Fordyce have no employee, no truck (he must use his private car for deliveries), no sign, and that his business create no disturbing noise or interference with radio or television reception.

The commission voted 6-0 against rezoning of two parcels of land at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Calumet Avenue from single family to apartment. The application by Gordon S. and Myheers E. Jones was opposed by numerous residents.

Applications by Mary Garaventa for a two-lot subdivision at Holstein Road and the Alameda, and by Franklin C. Latham for a three-lot subdivision between Laurel Avenue and Crescent Road were continued for filing of more information.

In an annual reorganization of the commission, Charles R. Leitzell of 72 Oakland Avenue, chairman in 1962, was named chairman for 1964. He is a civil engineer with Sverdrup and Parcel and Associates, San Francisco consulting engineers. Commissioner Lloyd, also a civil engineer, was elected vice chairman.

Commissioner James Coperthwaite was absent.

CORTE MADERA SPEEDERS ARE WARNED

Motorists in Corte Madera got off lightly—much too lightly—with moving violations in the month of January, Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow told the town council last night.

But it was only because the town is short one police officer, he said, and will be corrected when the patrolman post is filled.

He noted that only three tickets for moving violations were issued, as compared with 24 for the preceding month. Brandow said other duties, including serving of warrants, have taken much of the six-man police force's time. The seventh man will be hired soon, he said.

Behr To Talk

Peter H. Behr, county supervisor from the Third District, will speak on "Southern Marin and its Future" at tomorrow's meeting of the Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council at 8 p.m. in Reed School Auditorium.

The number of the red-haired orangutan of Borneo and Sumatra now is less than 5,000.

Public Safety Building Is On April 14 Ballot

A resolution to place a $200,000 public safety building bond issue on the April 14 municipal election ballot was passed last night by the Corte Madera Town Council.

The meeting then adjourned until 7:30 p.m. Monday in the town hall annex to pass an ordinance to that effect. The adjourned meeting is legally necessary since the bond ordinance could not be passed at the same time as the resolution.

The council had a choice last night of proposing either the $200,000 issue, to include a second and fire department building to be constructed east of Highway 101, or a $180,000 issue without the second structure. It quickly chose the former.

Total cost of the main safety building, which would house police and fire department headquarters, could rise to said, but only the construction cost will be included in the bond issue.

The council also passed a resolution calling for the municipal election. Posts to be filled are those of two councilmen, treasurer and clerk.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Filed without action a much considered proposed ordinance amendment which would require a maintenance bond to guarantee repairs to any street used as a truck route in tract construction.
2. Put over until March 2 meeting acceptance of a new map of the town's maintenance system.
3. Accepted public improvements of Parkview Terrace subdivision north of Town Hall, subject to one-year maintenance bond.
4. Delayed until April action on the uniform animal control ordinance.
5. Introduced an ordinance authorizing the mayor to sign a contract for participation of town employees in the state employees' retirement program April 1. A secret ballot of 24 employees disclosed 18 favored the action.
6. Started formation of a special assessment district for a portion of upper Stetson Avenue by naming the law firm of Wilson, Harzfeld, Jones and Morton of San Mateo as attorneys for the district and D. A. Rhodes of Mill Valley as engineer. Eleven of the 13 property owners in the proposed district have petitioned for it.
7. Decided to hold Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to its rate of $5.12 per month for each of 15 street lights ordered last summer. The company said a mistake was made and cost should be $6.56 per month instead. The lights go in Parkview Terrace and Mariner Highlands.

Coin Club Talk

George Turman of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco will speak on the federal reserve system at a meeting of the Marin Coin Club at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley. Refreshments will be served and visitors are welcome, according to R. C. West, publicity chairman.

SAN RAFAEL TO REPLACE WRECKED CAR

San Rafael will immediately buy a new police car to replace one wrecked last Wednesday by Patrolman Michael Fisher when he drove into a ditch off Woodland Avenue.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen told the city council last night the car had been written off as a total loss. Lowest bid for repair was $872, he said, which was more than the car's value.

The council authorized Andersen to buy a replacement car through the state—a Dodge equipped to highway patrol specifications. Andersen said it could be delivered Friday.

Fisher, who has been on the police force only six months, drew five days suspension for the wreck. He admitted falling asleep at the wheel.

He said Tamalpais High School District is 14th among 52 Bay Area school districts in the level of pay for teachers. The committee is to present two more reports before making final recommendations.

New Forms Due After Tax Trim

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service is mapping a campaign to help the puzzled taxpayers who are required to pay part or all of their taxes on a quarterly basis, an agency official said today.

The agency plans to rush 12 to 15 million new forms and instruction sheets to post offices and banks within a week after final congressional action is taken on the income-tax reduction bill.

About 10 per cent of the taxpayers — 6 million — are required to fill out estimated income tax returns because part or all of their income is not covered by the withholding tax on wages and salaries.

New withholding rates have been announced, a drop to 14 per cent from 18 per cent, even though Congress has not taken final action on the tax cut bill.

New tables for employers were mailed out this week.

But this combination form and instruction sheet will not be mailed directly to taxpayers because some of them might confuse it with the regular package of income tax forms they received last month.

Those who file estimated tax returns — usually taxpayers with $10,000 or more income — could get an immediate benefit from the tax bill by figuring their estimated income tax under the new, lower rates. However, they have received no official notification of the new rates.

They will be able to get the new instructions at a post office or bank a week after the bill becomes law. The bill, now in a Senate-House committee to reconcile differences between two versions, is expected to be enacted by the end of the month.

MANY USES

Traveler's Checks Good For Ransom

SAN FRANCISCO—Bank of America doesn't advocate the purchase of travelers checks to pay for your own ransom, but it has happened because kidnapers knew the checks were as good as cash.

The man who found himself in this unusual predicament—taking a trip abroad—was forced from a cab by six men and locked in a little shack, where at the point of a gun he was told to start signing. (He was refunded by the bank because he signed under "duress.")

Underworld payoffs, blackmail or foreign intrigue, it seems, keep cropping up in the bank's travelers check department, ranging from the ridiculous to the tragic and dramatic, and always requiring broad-minded and mature individuals to process the claims.

Worried mothers frequently check on the whereabouts of older children and get that information if their offspring are minors. Other checks point to a trail to aid law enforcement agencies on lost persons cases, sometimes with tragic endings. Wives and husbands have similarly been traced because of an emergency at home. The department respects privacy, however, and, therefore, informs itself of the facts before acting on any of the cases.

Frantic calls come from honeymooners (they are never left stranded), from farmers who lose their wallets and check contents in pig pens full of hungry pigs and from people who file for information rather than for money.

This was the case of one young man who met his "dream girl" on a cross country bus jaunt. Nothing else being handy, he jotted her telephone number on the back of a travelers check. He subsequently cashed it and his only recourse was to file a claim for the telephone number.

When the Italian liner Andrea Doria sank in the summer of 1956, some of the most welcome people among the many thousands who greeted survivors were the bank's representatives who were at the docks to meet the monetary needs of survivors who had lost travelers checks.

Sales in some foreign areas often point to the prevailing mood. This necessitates a foreign policy.

Anticipation of Cuban events, for example, enabled Bank of America to close its representative office and to withdraw what would have amounted to a free multi-million U.S. dollar reserve in travelers checks two days before the present regime nationalized the 25 Cuban banks. The bank's representative also was able to flee.

On occasion the checks have been counterfeited (including crude attempts with crayon drawings and water colors), but a certain metallic compound in the electronic encoding of the checks discourages this practice. However, the bank accepts and redeems all reasonably good counterfeit checks rather than let a merchant take the loss.

When it is not occupied with these particular cases, the department handles about 15,000 other claims of loss, theft and fire, enlisting the help of its automated facilities to single out shady characters and point an electronic finger at a possible crook.

Market Rallies On Steel

NEW YORK (AP)—A late rally by steel gave the stock market an irregularly higher pattern at the close today. Trading was fairly active.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.7 million shares compared with 4.82 million yesterday.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were narrow.

An exception was Eastman Kodak which climbed about 2 points from its 3 1/2 rise of Monday. Sears, Roebuck, up about a point, continued its uptrend.

Big Three motors all improved, showing fractional gains. The major steelmakers rallied.

Profit taking overtook the cigar manufacturers which have made substantial gains in the past month. Losses of around a point or more were taken by Consolidated Cigar, D.W.G. Cigar, Bayuk and Genetral Cigar.

Selective improvement occurred among cigarette makers. Philip Morris was up a point, American Tobacco added a fraction. Reynolds was steady. Lorillard about unchanged and Liggett and Myers down fractionally.

Savings-and-loan holding companies also continued to move higher but most gains were slight.

Youngstown Sheet spurred 2 points in the afternoon. U.S. Steel and Jones and Laughlin posted 1-point gains.

Financial Federation rose about a point. Up fractionally were First Charter Financial, Wesco and Great Western Financial.

Helene Curtis, off more than a point, Continental Air Lines, up a fraction and Murphy Oil, up more than a point, were very active. Gillette, ahead more than a point, also was heavily traded. Scott Paper, off a fraction, was among the volume leaders.

On a 10,000-share block, Al-dens rose 1/2 to 29.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in moderate trading.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were irregular.

Mining Engineer Sells Business

A. H. Dakin, Tiburon mining engineer, announced today he has sold his business to his "favorite competitors," Roemer and Estes of 295 Miller Avenue and Rhodes Engineering of 352 Miller Avenue, both of Mill Valley.

Dakin has been in business in Mill Valley 16 years. His office is in the Keystone Building on Lytton Square. The engineer and land surveyor is a successor to Comstock Engineering.

"I'm going back to Trinity County where I belong, to resume practice in Trinity Center," said Dakin.

The Petaluma-based creamery purchased Lucas Valley Dairy in August of 1962.

Grady will now have charge of dairy products in Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties, as well as Marin. A life-long resident of San Rafael, he has been general manager of Lucas Valley since 1941.

Red Rock Island Plan Retreat For Tired Business People

Attorney David M. Glickman of Tiburon, who bought the tri-county Red Rock Island, has come up with some interesting facts about this lump of earth which juts out of the bay just south of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge—and also plans for its development.

Much of the information turned up as a result of investigations by Title Insurance and Trust Co., who issued the title insurance policy — the first policy, by the way, ever granted on the property.

Explaining the apparent failure of the Marin County Assessor's Office to record it as privately owned, Glickman says the island did originally belong to the United States Government, but a long time ago a mining patent was issued to the forebears of Alex Wilson et al. who eventually inherited it. At one time manganese was actually mined there. Apparently, too, it was not just idle rumor that the Spaniards used it to stow away buried treasures. Some of them were recovered, Glickman affirms.

He is toying with the idea of having high-rise apartments built—perhaps also cottages—to make the island a sort of retreat for tired business people that can't be reached except by boat. Dock facilities for yachts and a restaurant are also included in the preliminary plans, which are already being worked out by architect Violetta Autumn of Sausalito.

Glickman foresees no great difficulty in supplying the island with water. He is preparing to drill for it. If this doesn't do the trick, he believes it can be piped in either from the bridge or from Richmond.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 18, the 49th day of 1964 with 317 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

On this day in history:
In 1861, Jefferson Davis was sworn into office as president of the Confederate States of America.

In 1930, the planet Pluto was discovered by an astronomer working at the Lowell Observatory in Flagstaff, Ariz.

In 1953, Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz were awarded the most costly single television contract to that date. The price: eight million dollars.

In 1954, Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) told Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker he was "not fit to wear" the uniform because of his testimony before the McCarthy investigating committee.

A thought for the day — Confederate President Jefferson Davis said in his inaugural address: "All we (in the South) ask is to be let alone."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Partnership Language
Needed by Defenders

Defenders must use a partnership language to help them decide when to continue a suit and when to switch to a new suit.

This information is conveyed by the nature of the card led or played.

West opens the seven of diamonds, and East wins with the ace. East may consider continuing diamonds, but let's suppose he switches to the deuce of spades.

WEST WINS

West wins with the queen of spades and wonders if it is safe to return a spade. Perhaps South has the ace of spades. If so, a spade return may cost a trick.

This is where partnership language solves a problem. When East returns the deuce of spades (or any very low card) he promises that he can support a spade return.

In general, this guarantees jack or better at the head of the suit.

OTHER CASES

It's important to know what East should do in other cases. Which spade would East lead at the second trick if his spade suit were 9-7-2 instead of his actual holding?

East would lead the nine. A high spot-card denies the ability to support a return in the same suit. The highest spot-card you hold is usually clear.

In the actual hand, as we have seen, East returns the deuce of spades. West sees that the only missing high card is the ace (since the jack is in dummy).

SPADE ACE

If East has the ace of spades there is no danger in continuing the suit. West leads another spade, and the defenders take their three spade tricks to defeat the contract.

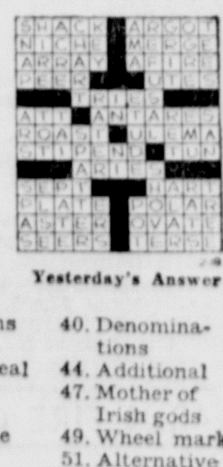

If the defenders failed to take their spades, South would draw trumps and run the clubs to make his contract.

Now for a word of warning about partnership language. Don't rely on it unless you are confident that your partner knows the language. Many an experienced player will lead a nine when he should lead a deuce, and vice versa. Show this column to your favorite partner to make sure that you both speak the same language.

Mill Valley Councilmen Turn Tables In Forum

The Mill Valley City Council turned the tables last night at its second citizens forum to ask the audience questions.

This came after Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks asked for questions and was greeted by silence.

Three councilmen, Michael Wornum, George Blackwell and William M. Secor, arrived late for the 7:30 p.m. forum.

Councilman George D. Beedle, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, if the council ever failed to consult businessmen regarding problems.

"I don't recall any instances," said Beedle. He said, however, the city's sign regulations are termed "very restrictive" and that he would like to know when there are complaints about businesses displaying signs without a permit or which are in violation.

Sheeks asked the audience if it felt the question and answer periods are valuable. William P. Feeney, often called "the sixth councilman" because of his regular appearances at meetings, replied, "I believe

Mill Valley Open Dances Due Debate

So, That's why we're all here."

Beedle and Mrs. F. J. Grew agreed with Feeney.

"Is it the intention to condemn the Biggio Property for Sycamore Avenue extension?" asked G. W. Robertson. "Yes, a little corner," said Sheeks. "Did anyone ever approach him (Biggio)?" asked Robertson. "I don't know. You would have to ask Mr. A. E. Almarants," said Sheeks.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer told the council he will meet today with the mayor's youth activities committee to discuss cost of putting the community and youth center building together so it can be used.

A site plan for the recreation center was displayed and Dean Meyer, parks and recreation commission chairman, said the horse ring is being realigned and expanded. He added that there is space for a swimming pool but the commission believes other spots in the city would be better because of weather.

"I would like to see tennis courts come right after the horses," said Monardo.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Set Feb. 27, 7:30 p.m. to meet with the library board to discuss details of the proposed library bond issue.
2. Heard that Balmer is pursuing a proposal that the county and cities adopt a uniform building code.
3. Authorized an agreement with the Mill Valley School District for filling of the Enchanted Knolls School site by developers Harter and Odenhall, and asked Balmer to write the school board asking that it advise the city if it decides not to use the school site.
4. Approved realignment of a lot line for Councilman Blackwell at 2 Fern Canyon Road, Blackwell abstaining.
5. Agreed that studies for drainage plans for Old Mill Creek, Blithedale Canyon and the downtown area be budgeted for 1964-65, to cost about $2,500.
6. Authorized payment of $387 to City Atty. Leland H. Jordan for extra legal services.
7. Thanked the Rotary Club for the gift of two wrought iron lamp frames for the front of city hall.
8. Introduced an ordinance by title only to zone Redwood Camp, part 1 annexation, for 10,000 square lots.
9. Introduced an ordinance by title only to zone a parcel of land on Sunnyside Avenue between Parkwood and Laurelwood avenues from duplex to commercial. Robert Greene plans to build five offices on the property.
10. Agreed to authorize a contract, on receipt of funds and deeds of four easements, to permit eight property owners in Cypress Avenue area to start a voluntary sewer assessment district.

SEPTIC TANK FUSS

Bolinas Family Tired Of Mess

The family which owns the Bolinas Mesa house with the overflowing septic tank is going to move out, very tired of the whole mess.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matthews and their daughter are hoping to find another home in the area by the end of this month, Mrs. Matthews said today.

They are moving from their Nymph Road residence because that is the only solution to the problem, according to their attorney, David J. Costamagna of San Rafael.

The Matthews' back-yard neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Frances Cassidy, have filed a suit asking for the abatement of a nuisance, namely the use of the gorged septic tank according to Ronald D. Schench, the Cassidys' attorney.

"We did not file the suit until I learned from their attorney that the Matthews were not going to accept a proposal for solution to the problem suggested by the county health department."

"The Cassidys are in sympathy with their neighbors' situation," Schench said, "but they do not want polluted water draining onto their property."

Coast Guard Conducting Hunt Of Missing Ship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Coast Guard said today it is conducting a search for the 52-foot "unsinkable" trimaran Tontine built by East Bay plastic manufacturer William D. Barton of Danville, the Coast Guard said.

Barton is owner and skipper of the three hulled craft. The Coast Guard said it began the search after Mrs. Jean Barton, the skipper's wife, requested it.

Designer: Lost Boat Can't Sink

Arthur L. Piver of 50 Marlin Avenue, Mill Valley, designer of the missing trimaran Tontine, explained today why the craft is "unsinkable."

Piver told the Independent Journal that the hull is made of two layers of plastic with foam sandwiched between. Thus, if the craft had capsized or broken up in the sorm off the South American coast, there would still be some trace of it on the surface of the sea, he said.

However, Piver thought it unlikely that it would capsize. The sloop is 52 feet long and has a 27-foot beam.

Piver has been designing trimarans for several years. These have been mostly plywood hulls for do-it-yourself builders.

"We have thousands of them all over the world," Piver said. Danville skipper William D. Barton, missing with six others on the boat, had developed the plastic construction. He planned to make several of the yachts for commercial sale. This was a demonstration cruise.

Piver said even the mast of the sloop was filled with foam. "The boat will float, I'm sure of it," Piver declared.

Hollis Loses Part Of Pay From State

A little more of the $16,058 annual salary of Marin County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis will be paid directly next year by Marin taxpayers.

UPnder state law, Hollis' salary is set by the state, and until this year the state paid 69.4 per cent of it. While reviewing a proposed county school service budget last night, the county board of education learned the state will pay only 68 per cent next year, or $10,919.

The 1.4 per cent difference, or $224, will be paid by the county.

"This is just a slight example of how the state is shifting financial responsibility to the local level," said George L. S. Emmons, director of business services for the county schools office.

Wife Runs U.S., Arab Paper Says

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The newspaper Al Moharrer yesterday urged the Arab world to turn to the Soviet Union and away from the West, and hinted that President Lyndon B. Johnson's wife is virtually running the United States.

It quoted an unnamed "prominent Western source" in Washington as saying Mrs. Johnson was a member of a Zionist, anti-Arab organization and that "it is well known inside higher quarters in the U. S. that Mrs. Johnson practices great influence on the decisions taken by her husband, and that she interferes in every affair, great or small."

"I do not want to endorse what is being said in certain American quarters, namely that the lady at the White House is the one who is running the U. S. now," a translation of the article said, "but it is also wrong to underestimate such talk."

The newspaper is an extreme nationalist daily.

Special Services School Fund Sought

The Marin County Board of Education agreed at a special meeting last night to ask the state for $292,099 for operation of special services for Marin schools next year, including hiring an extra psychologist and a "publications technician."

The budget for the county school service fund, is separate from the funds subject to approval by the county board of supervisors. The school service fund includes programs for the blind, speech therapy, psychology, audio-visual aids, data processing, and subsidies for county school administration, ranging from a share of the superintendent's salary to money for travel expenses.

Supt. Virgil S. Hollis told the board the chances are good for state approval since each item requested is a "modest amount." The state approved a budget of $245,924 for 1963-64.

The county expects to get a similar amount from the school districts in the county for services supplied under contract by the county schools office. The county also expects $227,850 from the State Department of Corrections for operation of the school at San Quentin Prison.

An increased budget for salaries in the school service fund would allow about $9,000 for another psychologist.

(Last spring several county school employees resigned, including two psychologists who were critical of the administration of the department. In commenting on charges that they "resigned under pressure," Hollis at that time said there was a necessary reduction in county psychologists because districts were hiring their own fulltime psychologists.)

Hiring a "publications technician" is proposed for state approval at an annual salary of $7,500. Hollis told the board the technician would "coordinate the various publications of the department," including the monthly newsletter and journals for distribution to teachers.

Such a position was proposed two years ago but was cancelled because of trimming of state funds. Hollis said districts such as San Rafael and Reed have since hired "editorial assistants."

The proposed school service budget includes a 5 per cent salary increase for professional and clerical jobs in the county office. A 5 per cent increase was approved last year.

Also proposed is $14,500 for the department's new data processing coordinator, including $10,520 salary and the remainder for expenses in setting up computer programs for school districts.

$171,061 U.S. Funds For Bay Planning

The Housing and Home Finance Agency yesterday approved a $171,061 urban planning assistance grant the Assn. of Bay Area Governments, for an eight-county planning program in the Bay Area.

The approval was reported by telegram by Sen. Clair Engle (D-California).

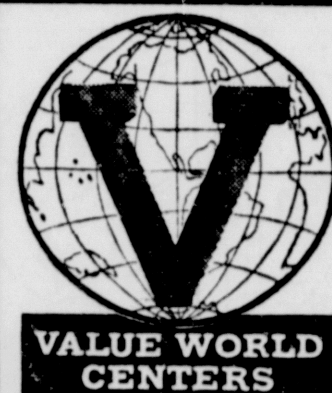

Mayor John F. McInnis of San Rafael president of ABAG, said "this is what we have been waiting for. We can now start a program which will tie together the planning for the eight counties."

McInnis noted that a precise plan for San Francisco Bay filling is to be included in the program financed by the federal grant. Transportation study of the Bay Area being financed by the state under a separate program will be tied into ABAG study, he said.

The federal grant will supplement $85,531 in local contributions by the eight counties—Marin, Sonoma, Contra Costa, Alameda, Napa, San Francisco, San Mateo, and Santa Clara.

County May Get 80,000 Registered

There may be nearly 80,000 registered voters in Marin by the deadline for the June primary election registration, the county clerk's office predicted today.

As of last Friday, there were 67,128 registered voters in the county, an increase of about 4,000 over the 63,000 registered for the special congressional election in January of last year. Deputy County Clerk John F. Musser said voter registration interest has perked up in recent weeks.

Thursday is the deadline for registration for April 14 city elections in the county. "Between now and next registration deadline, April 9, we will be getting more new voters, and I expect we'll have close to 80,000 for the June 2 primary," Musser said.

Many of the recent registrations have been from persons moving from one part of the county to another. Musser said there were more new registrations because of changes of address this year than any of the past six years during which he has worked in county elections.

Time For Authorities To Look At High Gas Prices

Why is it that gasoline prices are higher in Marin than almost any other densely populated area of the state?

The gasoline companies like to answer price complaints by pointing to the 11-cents per gallon tax. As a matter of fact, the tax did rise one cent per gallon some months ago.

But the tax is the same everywhere in the state. It doesn't explain why Marinities pay a kind of punitively high price.

Take our neighboring county to the east—Contra Costa. If you drive to Richmond for a tank of gas (especially if you drive an over-powered out-sized American car with a 20-gallon tank) you can more than pay the bridge toll ($1.50 per round trip) on what you save on a tank-full.

The San Rafael-Richmond Bridge is eight miles long. We cannot see any justice in such a wide price differential between stations little more than eight miles apart.

Take our neighboring county to the north. The county seat of Sonoma County is certainly farther from refineries and oil fields than is the county seat of Marin County. Why then should the prevailing price be lower at the more distant point?

If your travels take you over Sacramento way the first town you come to after you leave Marin, Vallejo, offers substantially lower gas prices.

For years, San Francisco tank prices were several cents lower than Marin's; but most of this differential was wiped out after the last gas price "war." Their prices went up; ours didn't come down.

A week ago in Los Angeles (the latest an I-J representative was there), gasoline price was 10 cents a gallon less than what we are forced to pay here in Marin.

The latest trip by an I-J reporter turned up no gasoline prices between San Francisco and San Diego as high as those in Marin.

If you use a tank-full a week here, say 15 gallons at a 10-cent premium over the Los Angeles price, you are paying the gasoline companies $1.50 per week excess profit.

The State Department of Motor Vehicles says there were 77,000 automobiles registered in Marin County last year. If they only got gouged a dollar a week per car, that would be $77,000 per week.

What a gouging! What a profit!

If there is any competition in the business here it is obviously NOT making itself felt.

This is a situation to which the proper authorities should give attention. The governor's Consumer Council comes to mind first. The office of the Attorney General has shown interest in such matters in times past; it obviously is time for another close look.

VACATION SPOT FOR TROPICAL FISH

A boardinghouse for tropical fish was set up by a Long Island man, with many happy results.

The aquarium owner started thinking when customers showed concern about the fate of their swordtails, guppies and mollies, which they would have to leave behind when going on vacation.

Realizing that he could not go around from home to home feeding the fish and testing the water, he decided that he would let them come to him.

Charging $2 a week for every 10 gallons of water used by his guests, the enterprising man has built up a clientele of well over 500

"boarders" at the peak of the season.

Most of us find it fairly easy to serve the needs and desires of others when it is to our advantage. But an even greater test of our sincerity is a willingness to see that their God-given rights are respected even if it requires personal sacrifice on our own part.

Find out what people in your neighborhood most seriously lack, from job opportunities to housing or education, and take some step to help them achieve it.

"This is My commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you."

Senate Race, Notably Demo Choice, May Hinge On Geographical Lines

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The race for United States senator may be decided on geographical lines, particularly with reference to the Democratic nomination for that post, the result of independent sampling polls indicates.

Traditionally, California has voted one senator for the north, and one for the south. This division is in effect at the present time, with Sen. Clair Engle, a Democrat, from Northern California, and Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, a Republican, from the south.

A poll conducted by Oliver

Quayle and Co., of New York, says 71 per cent of those questioned figure the selection of one senator from the north and one from the south is a good idea, while only 15 per cent feel that it is not and 14 per cent were not sure.

EVEN MORE interesting is the result of individual inquiry on the poll, which was taken on the assumption that former Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco would be the Republican nominee.

In this query, State Controller Alan Cranston, one of the Democratic hopefuls, showed up on top.

Cranston was given a 54 to 46 per cent edge over Christopher, while Stanley Mosk, attorney general, showed only 53 to 47 in his chances of beating Christopher. James Roosevelt, congressman from Southern California, was given a 50-50 chance.

Before the geographical question was introduced in the poll, Mosk rated 55 to 45 against Christopher, Cranston 51 to 49 per cent against the San Francisco Republican, and Roosevelt also 51 to 49.

Before any mention of the residential area of candidates was mentioned in a poll on the primary election, Roosevelt rated a 35 per cent chance of getting the nomination, Mosk 29 per cent and Cranston 9 per cent, while 27 per cent were in the unsure class.

When the geographical factor was introduced, Roosevelt rated 36 per cent, Mosk 21 per cent, and Cranston 15 per cent.

The poll also turned to the influence of the California Democratic Council in the election. This was not based on any individual candidate, as the council has not as yet endorsed any candidate.

However, 37 per cent of those polled felt a CDC endorsement would make them more favorable to whatever candidate has such an endorsement, while only four per cent indicated the CDC would cause them to be less favorable to the candidate. The other 59 per cent polled said the endorsement would make no difference to them.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Birch Society Would Rewrite Rights Bill

Editor, Independent-Journal:

... Sizing them up, I find a Bircher has the exact opposite earmarks of the kind of people who have made America great.

You just think of a few of those men in our history: Abe Lincoln, Tom Jefferson, Nathan Hale, John Hamilton, Ben Franklin, on up through the present. Do you think they'd ever make it in the Birch society? No, sir. Why the Birchers even called Eisenhower a Communist.

But think a bit further and decide if you'd want the Birchers to write you a new Constitution and a Bill of Rights, and that's what they'd do, only they wouldn't say so. You just get a hold of the blue book of theirs and read it. It's enough to scare you. Talk about people haters, ugh! If that's the bible they'd go by to write new laws, then Lord help us.

Supervisors Praised For Action On Plan

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As a relatively new resident to Marin County, and as a very new resident to the San Geronimo Valley, I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the Board of Supervisors for their most recent action concerning the zoning issue in the San Geronimo Valley. This congratulation is in order because of two events which occurred recently at a Board of Supervisors meeting.

The first even concerns the recognition of a hasty decision being made on their part, and the second concerns the responsiveness of the Board to the overwhelming expression of concerned residents of this beautiful valley in favor of their master plan, to the extent of traveling to the San Geronimo Valley area to examine more closely the land involved. There can be little doubt in my mind that the final vote of the Board of Supervisors will reflect the feelings of the vast majority of the residents of this valley by adopting their master plan.

Mill Valley Oracles, Utterances Printed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your paper deserves a "no-confidence" vote for its deceptive reporting on Mill Valley's new Saturday city council, the self-styled "Mill Valley Citizens Committee for Better Government." Week after week this group of no more than 18 people meets and issues "press releases" which are swallowed whole by your paper and reported more thoroughly than the meetings of councils, planning commissions and district boards.

Good reporting dictates that you state also how many people are present and be less willing to contribute to public deception by giving credence to the utterances of a group which is actually dedicated to the election of its own slate of candidates. Were a candidate or his manager to present you with similar material, it would be valued for what it is—campaign literature—and relegated to proper weight and perspective. Yet this little group holds purported "forums" and "panels," issues partial explanations and half-truths, and then announces that it approves information and good government.

The fact is that this group has its origins in the little group of frustrated land developers who have fought in vain against the present council to rezone or by "planned unit development" cover Mill Valley's slopes and ridges with dense development. Our present council majority has dedicated itself to resisting conflict of interest, unrestrained multiple development, and hillside scarring. It has also insisted on good city manager government, where policy is set by council and administered by capable, trained administrators. If these are the issues in the election, let them be presented as issues and by candidates and not by deceptive forums and press releases which your paper presents as utterances from the oracles!

I-J Political Editor Contradicted

Editor, Independent-Journal:

About the musings in your political editor's column as to Vera Schultz's candidacy for the state senate, it would indeed be comforting to the McCarthy campaign if Mrs. Schultz's decision had been affected by any such expedient as "they couldn't find anyone else to go against McCarthy."

As chairman of the 13th Senatorial District Candidate Finding Committee, let me tell you the truth of the matter. There were two ambitious, bright Democrats waiting in the wings, one in the south end of the county, one in San Rafael, and you'll undoubtedly hear much of these political aspirants in the near future.

But, the committee decided that Vera Schultz is, by all criteria, the best candidate the Democrats could offer.

After carefully studying McCarthy's record, Vera Schultz decided that, despite the senator's financial freedom, his record is extremely vulnerable. So, for the good of the county and the state Mrs. Schultz agreed with the committee that the people of Marin have a right to two views on the type of representation McCarthy has been giving them in Sacramento. In the ensuing months she will expose and dissect the McCarthy record in all of its various phases.

In the meantime, scores of Marin voters have been calling volunteering their services since the announcement of her candidacy for the state senate last week.

Eisenhower Urged To Visit Japan; They're Sorry For Riots In 1960

TOKYO

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower
Palm Springs, Calif.

Dear Gen. Eisenhower:

The Japanese people want you to pack your bags and pay them a visit here as soon as possible—the sooner the better.

I can tell you this invitation comes from the heart and from everyone I have been talking with—from the man in the street to the men in the Diet (some of whom pounded their desks in anger in 1960); from the political left (except the Communists) and the political right; from students, editors, professors, union leaders.

They are not just being polite; they mean it. And they are not just looking for a way to make up for that confused miasmic mess which painfully forced their government to ask you to skip Japan four years ago.

THIS ALMOST universal wish, visible on every hand, for the president to meet friends and former rioters, is a positive thing, not just a grand amende.

Today the bitter words and violent acts, the riotous demonstrations which endangered the life of press secretary Jim Hagerty and caused you to cancel your visit—these are a distant nightmare, haunting but almost unreal.

They were not unreal at the time. But many things have changed and when you come you will not have to be protected from violence but possibly from the crush of friendliness.

It was hard for many of us at the time to perceive that what looked like a massive anti-American sentiment welling up to violent proportions was in fact a massive anti-Kishi (the then prime minister) sentiment because of the way he was jamming the U.S.-Japanese security treaty through the Diet without adequate debate. This was the procuring cause of what appeared to be an anti-American field day.

THE FACT IS that the Japanese are more friendly toward America than to any other country in the world, the government which negotiated the U.S.-Japanese security treaty has been re-elected by an even greater majority than it had before, and the 1960 rioting has had a soul-searching and sobering effect on the Japanese press and upon the whole political climate of the nation.

When Soviet Deputy Premier Mikoyan came here in 1961, confident that the "revolutionary tide" would be running high, his first words were a biting attack on the U.S.-Japanese mutual defense pact. He thought that would ingratiate himself beautifully. It didn't. The press was as one in replying that since Moscow had mutual defense treaties with its allies, there was no basis for Mikoyan's criticism of the U.S.-Japanese defense treaty.

In the Cuban missile crisis the Japanese instantly and openly supported the U.S. blockade before there was any assurance that the Soviets would back down. Recently when Castro cut the water supply to the Guantanamo naval base, the Japan Times branded this action as "Castro's high-handedness."

WHEN Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy last month revisited Waseda University, where he had been sharply heckled by left-wing students two years ago, he was cheered as though he were a favorite alumnus returning for homecoming.

General Eisenhower, I know you have long looked forward to carrying through your visit to Japan, but have felt you ought to wait until after the U.S. presidential campaign. I truly believe you ought not to delay.

What better time and what more appropriate and non-political occasion than to come this October to share in opening the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo?

The Japanese would love it—so would you.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

New Pro-Cuba Unit Plans U.S. Rallies

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's flouting and baiting of the U.S. is to be duplicated right here in this country.

A pro-Castro organization calling itself the Emergency Committee for Disaster Relief to Cuba is organizing a series of rallies throughout the U.S. with the following objectives:

1. To raise funds to aid the Soviet puppet regime.
2. To provide it with shipments of food, medical and other supplies.
3. To upset the ban on travel, and send a delegation of the so-called emergency committee there.
4. To circumvent the U.S. government's economic blockade by transporting supplies by chartered planes instead of freighters.

A RALLY speaker for this organization is Mark Lane, attorney for Mrs. Margaret Oswald, mother of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Lane is to address the New York rally. Other slated speakers are Ruth Gage Colby, leader of an international women's peace movement;

Thomas E. Kolgan, Friends Service Committee; Philip A. Luce, listed as "spokesman for students' recent trip to Cuba."

Congressional investigators have been informed that the emergency committee is an offshoot of the Fair Play for Cuba Organization. This outfit was disbanded following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The protesters have been told that FPCO members were advised by its leaders to join other pro-Castro organizations.

A NUMBER of sponsors of the emergency committee were active in the FPCO.

Lee Harvey Oswald reputedly sought to join that organization. He was arrested in New Orleans for distributing its pro-Castro literature.

Official government files list a number of the sponsors of the emergency committee as Communists and fellow travelers.

One sponsor is a well-known writer who admitted to a congressional committee being paid $25,000 to do a book on Castro. Other sponsors have long been leaders in leftist movements.

IMMEDIATE AIM of the emergency committee is to reverse the Commerce Department's refusal to permit the shipping of powdered milk to Cuba. Authorization was denied by Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges, and the emergency committee is making strenuous undercover efforts to pressure him to grant this exception to the economic blockade.

Strangely, certain State Department officials favor that. They are credited with urging it be done, "on humanitarian grounds."

This backstage situation has become known to congressional sources and they are watching it closely. They are prepared to take the matter directly to President Lyndon B. Johnson if developments warrant.

Novato Nearly Engulfs Ignacio But 'Mayor' Galli Still Trumpets For It

FRANK GALLI, WHO calls himself the Mayor of Ignacio, took exception to this column two weeks ago when I referred to the area left in Ignacio as "insignificant." Frank called on Betty Machado for help in dispatching letters off to counteract this term.

Frank's loyalty to Ignacio is commendable. There was a time probably when Ignacio stood for much more than it does now. It had a railroad station, the same as Novato, a few miles up the line. It could have incorporated and claimed Hamilton Air Force Base, thus making it an imposing city in its own right.

BUT OPPORTUNITY passed it by. Novato took the lead and surrounded Ignacio on three sides. Under the present state laws, eventually Novato will surround Ignacio completely and thereby absorb it.

To a man as loyal as Frank to his home area, this must indeed be a bitter pill. The railroad station is gone. The new interchanges will completely remake the physical aspect of the community. Yet Frank clings to his motto, "Historic Ignacio, now a fast-growing modern Marin community proud to welcome some of neighboring Novato city limits within Ignacio boundaries."

NOBODY WILL question that Ignacio has a long history. Nobody will deny that that history should be preserved in names and places. But we feel confident that it is too late to reverse the trend of a big city absorbing its surrounding communities.

We suggest that if Frank Galli really wants to preserve something of historic Ignacio, he use what bargaining power he has and make a deal with the Novato City Council. He should use his influence to bring Ignacio into Novato provided that the city officially always recognizes it on maps and documents as the "Ignacio Area of Novato."

LATE AFTERNOON the other day, a kite was dancing in the wind on the east side of Novato. It dipped and swirled in circles and maneuvers. I felt an impulse to trace the owner by following the string to earth. I wanted to tell the young owner that his kite would be stable if he would add about a foot onto its tail.

I quickly dismissed this impulse. There is no better teacher than experience, and flying a kite is one of the learning experiences in youth. It requires the exact balance of kite, tail, string and know-how to make it fly.

Then when it succeeds, there is a thrill that even adults enjoy. It must be a release of man's imagination and desire to fly. For centuries he envied the birds their power to soar with the wind. Now suddenly here is a frail contraption of his own making that is flying. It is a basic thrill that most people share in the spring when the first warm winds blow strong enough to raise the kites to the skies.

MRS. B. A. Sullivan of 575 Arthur Street, Novato, recently phoned the operator and asked her to report a fire at that address. The operator, who is in San Rafael, phoned the San Rafael Fire Department and reported the fire.

The San Rafael Fire Department could not locate any Arthur Street. So it phoned the Marin County Fire Department. They in turn could only locate an Arthur Street in Novato, and so phoned the Novato Fire Department.

When the fire truck arrived, Mrs. Sullivan told the firemen that it took them a long time to get there. She did not realize how much of a delay she had caused by not telling the operator that she lived in Novato.

All the confusion came because she did not realize that the Western California Telephone Co. in Novato does not have an operator. All such calls are handled by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in San Rafael.

"I wish all people realized this when they call to report a fire," said Novato Fire Chief George Cavallero.

Orderly Person Just About Bugs Everyone With His Lint Picking

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals to the disorganized mass of mankind is the orderly person.

The orderly person is the lint picker of the human race, the emperor of the pigeon hole.

HE BELIEVES everything has its proper place, and if he can't find any other place for it he puts it in the waste basket.

Neatness often is praised as a virtue whereas, in fact, it more often is a vice — if not a downright sin.

There are basically only two types of people — the hoarders and the discards. The hoarders of this world. They are normal.

THEY NEVER throw anything away. Anything that happens to them is worth saving — be it a tooth broken in kindergarten, a love letter received in college, or a pair of combat boots worn in war.

The hoarder is afraid to throw anything away because he never knows when it might turn out to be useful. His voyage through existence becomes happily baggage-ridden, and wherever he takes a fresh step he creates a new debris.

The orderly person, on the other hand, is a fellow who turns something into nothing. He is like a man trying to bail himself out of a sinking lifeboat. He is so busy throwing things away that when he finally departs it is as if he had never been there.

IN MY OPINION the compulsively neat person is the victim of an inhuman malady. This has to be here, that has to be there — and before he goes to sleep at night he has to write little memos to himself about how he will organize tomorrow. It is as if he were deathly afraid of life's natural spontaneity.

He lives in a world held together by paper clips. His desk at the office always looks as if it had just been born, his home wears the antiseptic air of a surgeon's arena. He doesn't inhabit life — he just goes through it.

THE NEAT PERSON is never satisfied with his own neatness; he must inflict it on others. He is abnormal; he is a fanatic.

One of the great beauties of life is its disorder, and chaos is an inescapable part of living. This world is more than a vast laundry. It is a great and continuing salvage operation, and anything that happens to one is worth holding on to.

My motto is: "Don't throw it away. Whatever it is, keep it. You may want to admire it later."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Once a year, Boyle's long-suffering boss tells him to please make the top of his desk look less like a city dump. And this is the response he gets.)

San Rafael Parks Due Discussion

A five-year capital improvement program for San Rafael parks will be discussed by the city's park and recreation commission at a meeting tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. in the city hall.

The plan includes development of school playgrounds in cooperation with San Rafael and Dixie school districts.

The meeting will replace the regular monthly meeting of the commission.

IF IT'S TOO QUIET—TURN ON THE RADIO

Some of the finest comments that come to us from owners of 1964 Cadillacs concern the car's extraordinary quietness of operation.

A Cadillac owner remains comfortably insulated from the distraction and din of the heaviest midtown traffic. And we think that this remarkable characteristic tells a great deal about the quality and goodness of this extraordinary new Cadillac creation.

First of all, it indicates the car's high level of craftsmanship. Every 1964 Cadillac, in fact, now undergoes more than 1400 separate inspections.

It indicates, too, how Cadillac's combination of functional styling, scientific soundproofing and advanced new suspension have reduced to an almost unbelievable degree the sounds normally associated with travel.

And, even more importantly, it speaks of the car's great engineering. Cadillac's dynamic new engine operates with flawless precision, despite its record power. Its new transmissions, both the Hydra-Matic and the Turbo Hydra-Matic, translate that power into smooth, hushed response . . . and combined with exclusive True-Center drive line, virtually eliminate vibration.

If you have not yet driven a 1964 Cadillac, you will find it a most revealing experience. Your dealer will have one ready any time that's convenient. Just let the car's amazing quiet do the talking.

Machen KO's Sabedong; Is He Ready For Title Shot?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With five consecutive knockouts behind him, fourth-ranked heavy-weight Eddie Machen figures he's ready for champion Sonny Liston.

"I can handle him," says Machen, who knocked out fellow San Franciscan Duke Sabedong last night in the first of 10 scheduled rounds before a crowd of almost 4,500 that nearly filled small Kezar Pavilion. They paid an estimated gross of $11,330.

"I'm contemplating that now," answered Machen when someone asked him whether he intends to be on hand one week from today when Liston takes on challenger Cassius Clay in Miami Beach.

Machen is the last man to go the distance with Liston, losing a 12-round decision to the Sonny Bear in 1960.

The 6-foot-7 Sabedong, originally from Hawaii, became the fifth knockout victim of Machen since the former No. 1 contender came back from a nervous breakdown last year that forced him into a hospital for six weeks.

Sabedong, who weighed 216 to Machen's 194½, took the 10-count on one knee at 2:56 of the first round after being hit by a right uppercut. He had been floored about one-half minute earlier with a left hook followed by a right and another left hook, the hooks doing the primary damage.

"I went out there to hit him in the body at first in order to get his chin down within range," explained Machen. "With each blow, he got smaller and smaller."

"I got careless, I got caught, and that's it," explained Sabedong, who gets dressed almost as fast as he gets knocked out. "I'm ready for any of them now," said Machen, who emphasized he meant Liston in particular. "This is my 51st fight since turning professional—against the top heavyweights."

Machen's record now is 45-4-2 with 29 knockouts. Sabedong is 16-13-1 and has lost by knockout four times, never before in the first round.

Both fighters, incidentally, picked Liston to win.

"As soon as he catches up with him, he'll knock him out," Machen said as an embellishment to his prediction.

"At the rate Clay is going, I don't think Machen could get to him," said Sabedong, who is one of four men to last the distance with Clay since the poet turned professional.

No one had asked Sabedong his opinion on a possible Clay-Machen match, but the giant Samoan has a self-starting layrn.

"I heard 'seven' and that's all I heard," said Sabedong about his defeat by Machen. "Don't pick me up, I told the referee. I'll do it myself."

Dark Will Play For One Run When Marichal Is On Mound—Sometimes

When should a manager play for one run? When should he go for a bundle?

"I'll play for one run every time Juan Marichal is our starter," says Alvin Dark.

"But," adds the manager of the San Francisco Giants, "even with Juan at work it's tough to make one run stand up in Wrigley Field when the wind is blowing out. Usually you need a bundle in Wrigley Field."

Jack Hanley

THERE WERE two Giant-Cub games in Wrigley Field last season that perfectly illustrate Dark's point. Perhaps he had them in mind when answering the questions when a manager should be bunting for one run or slugging for a bundle.

On June 6 in Wrigley Field Marichal should have beaten the Cubs. He had a 1-0 lead going into the seventh and the Giants made it 2-0 when they came to bat in the eighth. Perhaps that insurance run made Marichal a little too cocky. Anyway, he had two-out in the Cub eighth when Billy Williams whacked him for a two-run homer. Then, the Cubs won it in the 10th after Marichal had been lifted for a pinch hitter.

ON AUG. 2 in Wrigley Field, the Giants led the Cubs 11-5 as the Cubs came to bat in their eighth. What happened? It was one of those incredible innings. Bob Bolin, Billy Hoelt and Gaylord Perry were clobbered for six runs that tied it 11-11, the Cubs winning it 12-11 in the 10th.

Marichal wasn't involved in that ludicrous 12-11 game last Aug. 2. He seldom gets whacked and neither does his mound opponent, usually the enemy ace. Thus, Dark's one run formula with Marichal at work is sound strategy.

TWICE LAST season in Candlestick, Marichal made one run stand up. The first time was June 15. That was the day the Dominican Dandy spun the first no-hit performance by a Giant pitcher since 1929 when Carl Hubbell last turned the trick. The Colts were Juan's victims.

Less than a month after his no-hitter, Marichal beat Warren Spahn 1-0 in a memorable 16-inning duel at Candlestick on the night of July 2. The lone run off the great Brave southpaw was a one-out homer in the 16th by Willie Mays.

Cage Coaches Blast Offensive Foul Rule

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The controversial offensive foul rule was raked over by San Francisco Bay Area basketball coaches yesterday.

The criticism came during a meeting of the Northern California Basketball Writers Assn. and found every coach present in agreement that the rule was ill-conceived.

The call objected to most involves the shooter who drives past his guard, goes up in the air and comes down to run into another defensive man who has shifted his position.

California coach Rene Herreias said that the stricter calls against the offensive men this season has resulted in the defensive men getting "cute" in order to be fouled.

Stu Inman of San Jose State said that officials were "hiding behind the rule and leaning on it." He said that when in doubt, the officials call an offensive foul because no shot was involved.

Pete Peletta of the University of San Francisco said the rule had taken the initiative away from the offense when they should be rewarded for breaking away from their man.

He said that part of offensive basketball was now obsolete. He said that coaches had to junk the weave-type offense and the criss-cross because all the defense had to do was step in the way of the dribbler.

Dick Garibaldi of Santa Clara, Mike Cimino of St. Mary's also voiced criticism of the rule.

Interservice Boxing Opens At Hamilton

About 1,000 fans crowded in to the North Recreation Hall at Hamilton Air Force Base last night to watch the opening of the 1964 Pacific Coast Interservice Invitational Boxing Tournament.

Results last night were: Derrick Hill, 122 pounds, (Treasure Island) defeated Joe Costello, 120 (Camp Pendleton).

Earl Richardson, 132 (Hamilton) defeated Gary Krantz, 130, (Concord Naval Depot).

Stanley Jordan, 139 (Camp Pendleton), TKO over Joe Hardie, 139, (Hamilton).

Howard Youngblood, 147, (Camp Pendleton) defeated Edward Phillips, 147, (Fort Lewis).

Eugene Dew, 152, (Hamilton) defeated Ted Hudson, 156, (Camp Pendleton).

Bob Williams, 165, (Hamilton) defeated Chester Winters, 165, (Camp Pendleton).

HALL OF FAMER—Luke Appling, new member of the Baseball Hall of Fame, gets a kiss from his wife, Fay, after being elected into the elite group of baseball greats. (AP Wirephoto)

'I Never Felt Better,' Says Hall Of Famer Luke Appling

ATLANTA (AP)—Those "old aches and pains" which gave Luke Appling his nickname are gone. He's in the baseball Hall of Fame now.

"I feel just like I had hit a home run with bases loaded with two out in the ninth in the seventh game of the World Series," said Appling, who set a major league record of 2,218 games at shortstop for the Chicago White Sox. "I tell you, I never felt better."

Appling, who batted over .300 in 16 of his 20 seasons, was elected to the Cooperstown, N.Y., Hall yesterday on an unprecedented second ballot. Hy Hurwitz, secretary of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America, announced the results at Boston.

Appling thus joined fellow Georgian Ty Cobb, whom he once idolized. Cobb was the first player elected. Appling is the 39th elected by the baseball writers.

The one-time Atlanta schoolboy drew 189 votes on the 225 ballots submitted by authorized BBWAA members. A total of 169, or 75 per cent of the votes cast, is needed for election.

Charles "Red" Ruffing, a right-handed pitcher who gained his fame with the New York Yankees, failed to make it despite his 184 votes. Second ballot rules specify that if more than one player got more than 75 per cent, only the leader would be elected.

AT SPRING TRAINING

Berra Starts Chore As N.Y. Yankee Boss

By OSCAR FRALEY

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—Back in the days when Casey Stengel was the skipper of the New York Yankees, he always pointed to Yogi Berra, and not always humorously, as "my first assistant manager."

Berra today has the portfolio all to himself and the gnomish little man made it obvious right off the bat, to coin a phrase, that there are going to be no "assistants."

Yogi was a pleasant surprise as the Yankees opened their rookie spring training camp.

BUTTERFLIES

"I had a few butterflies at first," he confessed. "But then I turned on the nonchalance. If he was nervous it didn't show when he grouped 49 rookies around him in centerfield and told them what it meant to be a Yankee or even a Yankee of the future. He was poised and sure and he made it evident that he was the boss."

"I went through this same bit 21 years ago," he told them. "Remember, we think you have a chance to be a Yankee or you wouldn't be here. And you're here for one purpose, to train."

RULES

Yogi "laid down the rules" on how a Yankee acts and then instituted a midnight curfew.

The players were from the five Yankee farm clubs, Richmond, Columbus, Greensboro, Shelby and Fort Lauderdale. And after Yogi's inaugural address they went to work, running, throwing and hitting, with a serious mien under Berra's nine coaches and "instructors."

They are Frank Crosetti, Joe DiMaggio, pitching coach Whitey Ford, Wally Moses, Jim Gleason, Johnny Neun, Jim Heggen, Cloyd Boyer and Steve Souchock.

"BETTER PRODUCE" "We'd better produce," DiMaggio, his hair almost white now, grinned on the sidelines. "We've only got six outfielders and we have three outfield coaches."

Ralph Houk, the man Berra succeeded, stood on the sidelines, too, smoking a cigar. With him was Roy Hamey, the retired general manager whose job Houk took over.

"Hey, Crow," Houk called to Crosetti, "show a little life." "Why don't you get out here and do a little work?" Crosetti answered.

"Tell me," Houk turned to Hamey, "where am I supposed to sit?"

"Anywhere out of the way," Hamey grinned.

There was no question but what Berra was running the show and, after directing his many coaches and instructors like a traffic cop, he had time to look back.

"Geez," he said, "it don't seem like it was 1943 when I first reported to Kansas City and got sent to Norfolk, that Neun, over there, he was the manager at Kansas City and sent me down farther."

"Nope," said Yogi, "I'm not gonna play any more. That is, less there's an emergency. We got Jack Gibbs behind Elston Howard and Johnny Blanchard, so we should be all right. But I'll take batting practice, just in case."

'JUST AIN'T RIGHT'

His biggest job right now, Yogi opined with a grin, "is learning the names of these guys." "You just can't," Yogi said with his new dignity. "Go around saying 'Hey, you.' It just ain't right for a manager to do that."

Thus did Berra launch his first day as manager of the Yankees. And when the work-out ended he was all smiles.

"It's great," he enthused. "Now all I got to do is win."

Which, in the Yankee tradition, is another large mouthful.

Warriors See Lead Snipped To Half Game

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors' Western Division lead was only one-half game over pesky St. Louis today.

The Cincinnati Royals rolled to their 12th straight win last night against San Francisco before 11,995 fans at Cleveland Arena in the 129-113 sizzler.

St. Louis meanwhile came from way back to down Baltimore and close the gap. San Francisco, which plays Detroit tonight and Cincinnati tomorrow and Friday, is 36-26 and St. Louis is 36-27.

It was 54-53 Cincinnati at the half and 76-73 Cincinnati after three quarters last night in a closely-fought struggle. But Cincinnati exploded early in the fourth quarter when Oscar Robertson and Wayne Embry got hot and the Warriors cooled off.

Wilt Chamberlain had a big night and hit 52, while Robertson tossed in 45, including 17 out of 18 from the free throw line. Rookie Jerry Lucas only had 14, but his rebounds were important, too.

Willard came out as the top scorer of the night. He came back Friday to rack up 17 points against Tamalpais to increase his season's total to 128 points. In eight league games this year, Willard has averaged 16 points per game.

Willard was runner-up in Marin Athletic League scoring honors last season with a 16.8 average per game.

Willard nosed out teammate Barry Hachmyer for Prep of the Week honors. Last Tuesday Hachmyer scored 16 points and then came back Friday to score 20 points. Both nights were considerably higher than his average this year.

With the recent newsletter from President Robert Fagg, all members have received a California Wildlife Federation decal. Members are urged to place it on their cars to show that they are doing their part for conservation.

The excellent film "Safari South," which was shown at the January meeting, has elicited many fine comments from the viewers. A special movie treat, "Beyond the Valley," will be shown at Friday's meeting. This is an award winner of the American Film Festival.

COMMITTEE REPORTS:

Boating chairman Ken Watts is considering a fashion show in conjunction with the April 18 family dinner. The February family dinner was held on the 15th instead of the 22nd due to Washington's birthday. Chairman Ray Augusto wishes to remind everyone, however, that all future dinners will continue to be held the Saturday evening after meeting night . . .

Maintenance chairman Leo Ciucci is making a survey of the boat ramp channel to determine the extent of dredging required . . . At the Feb. meeting of the advisory committee, the chairmanship was conferred upon yours truly, succeeding Dr. Gail Adams who has been chairman for the past three years . . . Veep Milburn Zell, chairman of the master planning committee, held this year's first meeting of that committee last night . . . House chairman Monty Marzetta is justifiably proud of our spanking new kitchen. Incidentally, have you seen the fine new furniture he acquired for the club's foyer? . . . Those appetizing refreshments served at the regular meetings are the work of chairman Don Kinsella and his dedicated committee workers .

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Rough Debut For Salmon Trollers, But Quite A Few Fish Reported

So the opening of the salmon trolling season has happened. Lots of disappointed fishermen, and a few well satisfied ones. The expected, and hoped for flattening of the ocean failed to materialize. Saturday was bearable—quite a few fish were taken, but not up to expectations. Sunday the wind increased, the seas tumbled and tossed. The more timid skippers, especially the private craft, postponed their foray on the fish awaiting better weather and calmer seas. The harder ones braved the elements to prove that there is no real lack of salmon in many of the favorite haunts, so those who have still to open the season may look forward to better results during the week.

For the first time in long months, I turned on my Halli-crafter Saturday and did my best to separate the static from the conversation between the skippers. At high noon I learned that Dave Kinley and his fine boat, the Evie K, had four salmon in the box but was getting action in a different area than he had been. The Evie K finished the initial performance with either eight or nine salmon.

Some of the boats plying the waters off Duxbury finished in a blaze of glory. From Lee Anderson's shop in Oakland I learned that two boats, the Chinook and the Sea Horse, docked with 23 salmon each to 12 pounds. The Lucky Day and the Lancer each unloaded 16 salmon, the Sea Gal had 7, the Ge-Ge 11, the Pegren 8, and the Miss Dragnet came in with 15 to 8 pounds.

So the opener wasn't a wash-out after all. Sure the ride was bumpy and the weather chilly, but the take was quite comparable to—maybe superior to—the average production during the height of the season.

TO CHECK further, I contacted Tony Caruso's place at

STEVENS

Sausalito. I learned from "Rick" that results were as good from Caruso's boat as from Lee Anderson's. The Silver Spray netted 20 salmon to 15 pounds, the Marion had 18 to 26, the Tony Webber—nee Whirl-A-Way—accounted for 14 to 16 pounds, the Eileen had 15 to 12 pounds, the Hurricane brought in a dozen to 16 pounds, Jennie C 10 to 9 pounds, Salmon Queen (fishing near the Light Ship) netted 10 to 18 pounds, and the Zatta and Sea Wolf had 7 each to 12 pounds. Most of the action was in the Duxbury area.

THE TAKE on Sunday appeared to be about on a par with Saturday, with one or two fish running in the 30-pound class. If anything, the ride was still bumpier on the Sabbath than on the opener. But who cares about a rough ride when the fish are active!

SATURDAY was productive for at least three bass trolling boats. The boat Troller came back to dock with 7 limits of bass to 15 pounds, the Trade Winds had 18 to 26 pounds, and the Cherokee boated 8 bass to 10 pounds. The above action was had off California City. Indications are that with more quiet weather, striper striving is well worth the effort it takes to buck the odds. High winds slowed down small-boat activity on both sides of the San Pablo Bay, but prospects, as stated, look very good.

Ken Marks Blasts 277 Game To Highlight Nave Bowling

Ken Marks blasted the pins at Nave Lanes for a terrific 277 game to head the past week's league scores at the Ignacio lanes.

Marks, rolling in the Monday Men's Handicap League, started the game with five straight strikes, spared in the sixth frame, then struck the rest of the way. He followed that game with a 210 and then fell off to a 158 line to post a 645 series, high three-game set of the week.

Lynn McDaniels took series runner-up honors with a 628 in the Thursday Nite Mixed League, and Norm Birse had a 256 game to take second-best score in individual line action, his game in the Tuesday Early Mixers.

Doris Malerbi topped the women's action with a 565 series and 228 game in the Forget Me Nots League, both highs for the week. Marge McDaniels was next with a 554 series and 216 game.

Doug Horton with a 781 series of four games and Mel Sjoblom with a 217 game topped the action for the junior keggers.

Top scores of the week:
840 Scratch—Warren Schwatka 606—219—205; Norm Birse 594—203—231; Rol Walberg 587—212; Dick Mallett 583—212; John Coen 577—201; Jon House 577—203; Ning Vel-scechi 237; Bob Horn 224; Milt Schwartz 226; Dusty Rhodes 220; Mike Powers 215; Bill Nave 215; Dave Hillary 208; Stan Folger 203—201; Charlie Fetherolf 203; Lyman Booth 200.

Sea Cove Homes Hinge On Supply Of Water

Plans for the Sea Cove subdivision on the Tiburon Peninsula were approved yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission, but the developers were told they would have to satisfy the staff and the Marin Municipal Water District that homes above the proposed subdivision would not have water service hampered.

W. R. Barton of Dan Coleman Associates, planners and engineers for the project, said the water district has plans to solve the problem of low pressure in the area, but an assessment district probably will be required.

Several other projects on the Tiburon Peninsula caused problems for the commission, mainly in or near the Marinero residence No. 1 subdivision.

Approval was granted on sidevard adjustments for an apartment project for Kurt Heath on Lyford Drive near Vistazo West Street, but Heath was told to bring in new plans improving the parking, allowing more cars per unit and more maneuverability.

Plans for apartments on the lot next door were held up for more information and study. Principal planner David Van Pelt said the plans were not adequate to make a formal recommendation.

An application by Melvin Silverman for architectural approval for an apartment house at Adrian and Labrea Ways in Santa Venetia was also continued until March 2. Van Pelt said more parking was needed. The Marin County Planning Commission also:

1. Approved zoning for 20,000 square foot minimum lots for Tally-Ho Estates, an eight-lot subdivision on Stirrup Lane near Vineyard Road and Suro Avenue, Novato. The subdivision has asked for agricultural zoning to allow residents to keep horses, but was told this could be handled by a use permit later.
2. Approved an adjustment allowing Leona M. Burleson to open a beauty shop at 1550 Armstrong Avenue, near Novato, as long as a nearby trailer court remains there.
3. Continued indefinitely the use permit request by Matich, Garnier and Long for a quarry at Black Point.
4. Approved a tentative map of Hamilton Industrial Park Subdivision for Leo Kaplan on Bel-Mar Boulevard, Ignacio.
5. Approved the master plan for the harbor point apartment development on the Strawberry Peninsula.
6. Approved plans for construction of eight classrooms at Marin Catholic High School, after hearing assurances a new traffic circulation and parking plan would be presented before further development.

7. Approved plans for a retail sales building for J. B. Rice at 136 Jacoby Street, south of San Rafael.

8. After a public hearing at which no one protested, approved rezoning of 10 lots at Oak Manor Unit 4-A, on an extension of Gregory Drive in Oak Manor, from interim zoning to single family residential.

9. Continued until April 20 hearing on a proposed zoning map of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area as part of a proposed amendment to the county zoning ordinance.

Commissioner Edward K. Wachsmann was absent. Commissioner Charles R. Johnson was absent in the afternoon.

Ideal conditions for tracking by bloodhounds are damp ground, little breeze and moderate temperatures.

2 Youths Find, Return Wallet

An engineer from Portland, who lost his wallet containing $90 in cash, will have it returned to him intact—thanks to the honesty of a Bolinas youth.

Anthony A. Bettencourt, 15, of Grove Road, Bolinas, told Deputy Sheriff Jack J. Santos he and a friend were walking toward town when they spotted a wallet in the grass. Inside were a $50 bill and two $20 bills. Identification papers showed the owner to be Martin D. Anderson of Portland, an engineer with Morrison-Knudsen Co. of San Francisco.

Edward Klementovich of the sheriff's identification bureau said the wallet would be forwarded to the owner. "The youth deserves credit for his honesty," commented Klementovich.

FROM FLORENCE—ORGANZA AND LACE

Designer Veneziani of Milan seemingly puts the feminine torso on a pedestal of bursting pink organza with this evening costume, at left. The ultra-feminine gown hugs the figure to the knees and then suddenly explodes with large loops and bows of airy organza to form a flower-like bottom to the floor.

At right, designer Emilio Pucci creates evening elegance in the gown done in a white lacy fabric. It has a slightly tapering line that widens toward its floor-length hemline. (UPI photos)

YOUNG MODERNS

How To Make Comeback From Mirror

There's nothing like a charm pickup to chase those winter doldrums. At this time of year depression often sets in when school work seems tougher, family seems less understanding, and you just can't do a thing with yourself.

A look in the mirror may steal the last vestige of reassurance that you can make a comeback.

But you can.

Try a six-day Beauty Crash Program. Give up all extra curricular activity from Monday to Saturday and concentrate on improving yourself in the glamour department.

MONDAY — A day of fast and light diet. Stick to liquids if possible, and give up frustration foods. (These are favorites of the Munch and Punch Society — candy, pastry, bags of nibbles, sweet drinks.)

Single out your most annoying figure fault. Today and every day for five days, exercise to get rid of it. Lie down and cycle in the air to help legs, knees, thighs. Lie down and roll from side to side to massage hips. Touch your right hand to left toes and left hand to right toes from a standing position, keeping your legs straight. It is excellent for waist, hips, thighs.

TUESDAY — Eat lightly. Exercise and concentrate on your legs and toes, the most neglected beauty areas in winter.

Clean your legs of fuzz with a razor or whatever. Rub oil on legs from toes to thighs. Besides the light, airy feeling, the routine may catch on and you'll be prepared for spring and shorts when the time comes.

Cut toe nails straight across, gently tapering the crosscut. Avoid rounding corners, promoting ingrown toenails.

WEDNESDAY — Eat lightly. Exercise. Oil your feet and legs.

Concentrate on your arms and hands. Give yourself a professional manicure with or without polish. Soak your hands, scrub your nails, push back the cuticle. Use an emory board to shorten them.

Rub oil from fingertips to shoulders in large sweeping strokes. If arms are too hairy, remove hair. Rub oil across shoulders and up neck to chin.

THURSDAY — Examine your face. Oily skin may be helped with soap and water; dry skin needs oil.

Continue light diet. Be sure to include green leafy vegetables. Exercise. Continue oil treatment on legs and arms.

Give yourself an eyebrow test. Remove straggly hairs between eyebrows and those under the arch. If your face is round keep eyebrows as long a line as possible and tweeze so they are lifted at a slight angle at the sides.

Find your lipline. If you use lipstick, favor a generous mouth but keep it dainty. Curve it just a little bit more than your own lipline permits, but don't get your mouth off balance. Experiment until you get the right line for your mouth. Young girls should use light lipstick, rather than dark.

FRIDAY — Experiment with a new hairdo, keeping certain facts in mind.

If you are a butterball, don't wear hair in all-round fuzziness. It should be close to the head in soft waves. If you are tall and thin, don't wear your hair piled up on top. It will look better in a neat arrangement that falls gracefully below the ears.

SATURDAY — Anything you couldn't do for yourself may require professional help: a new hairstyle, professional advice on eyebrows or manicure. Check teeth, call your dentist and this is the week to buy some little thing for your wardrobe.

It may make a new girl out of you. Or so you'll think. (P)

Sheer Nylon Anklets

Sheer nylon anklets are now on the market for women and girls who prefer nylons to ankle socks, but who dislike wearing garter bands or girdles to hold them up.

The 15-denier mesh anklets have heel and toe reinforcement and a skin tight stay-up cuff of an imported stretch yarn.

CHATTING WITH THE SPEAKER

Archbishop of San Francisco Joseph T. McGucken took time out before his talk on Friday to exchange notes with those attending the quarterly conference of the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women held on the Dominican College campus in

Atomizer War Has A Fragrant Effect

NEW YORK (UPI)—To better please the proboscis, the perfume industry is having its own atomic war—over atomizers. The man who first proved you could sell the most expensive fragrances to the housewife along Mainville, U.S.A., started the war by developing a new mechanical atomizer.

Arrayed now against battling Edouard Courmand are proponents of aerosol atomizers using a freon propellant—which Courmand himself had used until recently.

They claim the aerosol is superior. He claims it's inferior. "The rubber bulb atomizer which was the standby for spraying perfumes and toilet waters for years always had its deficiencies," said Courmand.

"THE OILS in the perfume sooner or later attacked the rubber and made the bulb leak. Besides it didn't work too well unless it was held absolutely level. Most women like to spray at various angles."

OLDER plunger atomizers leaked so they couldn't be carried in a bag.

"The development of aerosol propellant provided a fine leak-proof spray, but it has three serious drawbacks," Courmand said. His aerosol-backing foes don't agree.

"FIRST," he said, "the propellant changes the fragrance noticeably. Second, the propellant is explosive. If a woman uses it while she or someone close to her is smoking, it could be dangerous."

"Third, because it is explosive, you can use it only in a metal or strong opaque plastic container. One cannot see how much is left in the vial."

Pondering the problem, Courmand said he remembered that fountain pen people had problems in the early days of high altitude airline travel. Pens leaked as air pressure rose. But somehow the problem was solved.

SO COURMAND took his problem of making better perfume atomizers to an engineer for a fountain pen company and to a surgical supply house engineer.

"Between them," he said,

Not Even Royalty Can Have Cake And Eat It Too

The following is the second of three dispatches reporting on the pitfalls on the path of love for European royalty.

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI)—One lesson even royalty has to learn is that you cannot have your cake and eat it. King Edward VIII of Britain would have liked to make Mrs. Wallis Warfield his queen. They are now the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, self-exiled since 1936 from the land he ruled.

THE SAME forces that insisted on his abdication were on the move again when Princess Margaret, sister of Queen Elizabeth, fell in love with Group Captain Peter Townsend, a divorced man. After weeks of publicized torment she renounced her love for him in 1955. Presumably on the ground it would embarrass the throne.

She would also have had to give up the privileges of a princess to marry him and this the luxury-loving little lady was not quite prepared to do. In Britain the first rule of the royal marriage game is: absolutely no divorced persons can play.

Princess Irene of Holland must have forgotten these royal precedents when she decided on Feb. 7 to marry Prince Hugo Carlos de Bourbon Parma.

THE DUTCH government moved to battle stations. Some felt the queen had been humiliated by the change of mind about the engagement.

The cabinet would have been delighted to approve Irene's engagement to an eligible man—meaning, in this case, a Protestant of good family. But Prince Carlos was wrong on practically all counts. He is:

Catholic—The Dutch House of Orange is firmly Protestant.

A Spaniard—the ancient enmity between the nations is reflected in disapproval of the Franco regime.

A rightist—the Dutch try to be liberal.

Pretender to the Spanish throne—the Dutch demand by law that its royalty, even in laws, refrain from political activity.

For five days the cabinet argued. The Labor party attacked the government for "gross clumsiness" in the affair.

Bit by bit the story trickled through the security screen. Irene allegedly did not want to renounce her rights to succession to the crown and Prince Carlos was supporting her. They also, it was said, wanted to live in Holland.

ALARM BELLS began ringing in the mind of the government. Suppose something happened to the heiress-apparent.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Somehow there's something unusually appealing about a baby playing with his feet or just kicking up his heels at random. But your baby's foot-play is more than a joy to behold. It's an important part of foot and muscle development. The curling and uncurling of tiny toes... the stretching, pushing and pulling, all play a strengthening role in preparing those exquisite extremities for future activities: creeping, standing, walking. Great self-developers, babies.

Another developing idea. One of the truly effective contributors to your baby's growth and muscle development is protein. Gerber High Protein Cereal provides an excellent way to give your baby quality protein in a delightfully palatable form. It has a 35% protein content and a tasty, toasty, nut-like flavor that appeals to babies and toddlers alike. And, like all good-tasting Gerber Cereals, it's enriched with iron, calcium and important B-vitamins for further nutritional benefits.

Occupation hazards. Once your "up-and-at-em" baby gets to be the least bit mobile, assorted bumps, plops and bruises are unavoidable. Certainly you'll want to comfort your cherub when minor mishaps occur but it isn't wise to oversympathize. Being too protective may actually instill a fear of trying new educational adventures.

Relief measure. Biting, biting, biting... a real need for teethers. Gerber Teething Biscuits are designed to give baby biting satisfaction at its best. Because they're pleasantly flavored, extra-hard and waffle-surfaced for good gripping. Scalloped edges make for easy holding and skillful maneuvering.

Travel tip. Gerber Teething Biscuits make good "traveling companions" when you and baby go visiting. They're individually wrapped in sparkling cellophane, so you can pop 'em in pocket or purse with purity preserved. Gerber® Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Mich.

THE FAIRFAX Community Church was the setting for the recent wedding of Barbara Lynn Farmer and Kenneth Lawrence McKay of Belvedere. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. William E. Farmer of Fairfax.

Fedrick-Hartmann Nuptials Held In Camarillo Church

Carolyn Susan Hartmann of Camarillo became the bride of Dr. James Love Fedrick of Pearl River, N.Y., the son of Mrs. E. E. Peterson of Novato and J. R. Fedrick of Alameda.

The ceremony was a nuptial mass at St. Mary Magdalen Church in Camarillo on Feb. 1. Msgr. Gerald Glynn officiated.

Carolyn, the daughter of Mrs. Edmund Haas of Camarillo, wore a floor length gown of white sheer silk. Her attendants, an aunt, Mrs. Jack Ecoff, as matron of honor, and her bridesmaid, a cousin, Ann Ecoff, wore emerald green satin dresses. Ringbearer was Lisa Ecoff, cousin of the bride.

Dr. Fedrick was attended by his two brothers of Novato, C. R. Fedrick as best man and Joe B. Fedrick, usher. His uncle L. R. Jones of Lordsburg, N.M., was also an usher.

Dr. Fedrick graduated from the University of Arizona and received his doctorate in chemistry at the University of Illinois. He is affiliated with Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Xi and Phi Lambda Upsilon fraternities. He and his bride will reside in New York where he is associated with Lederle Pharmaceutical Laboratories.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Fibroids In Women Rarely Cancerous, But Surgery Hazardous, Takes Time

Fibroids of the uterus rarely become cancerous, but they are capable of growing enormously. One of the largest ever reported was 140 pounds, which may have been heavier than the woman who harbored it. Medical journals have described others that weighed 106, 89, 87, 74, and 47 pounds.

Tumors of this size cause marked abdominal swelling, more pronounced than any pregnancy. Pressure within the abdomen leads to discomfort and the majority of women with such large growths can hardly walk without becoming exhausted and short of breath. The veins that bring blood from the lower extremities also are pressed upon, resulting in swollen legs. These women may become so accustomed to their burden, they are amazed at the relief obtained after surgery.

REMOVAL of huge fibroids is hazardous and takes time. Numerous transfusions are required. In a case reported recently from the University of Louisville school of medicine, 24 pints were given during a five and one-half hour operation to eradicate a 47-pound tumor.

The surgeon had to stop working at frequent intervals to administer blood and other life-saving fluids. The 43-year-old patient survived without complications and, one year later, the abdominal wall was firm and she felt fine.

IT HAS BEEN estimated that one out of very five women has fibroids. Surgery seldom is necessary unless they enlarge greatly or cause symptoms. Prolonged menstruation is a common manifestation except in women who have passed the menopause. The amount of blood loss depends upon the location of the lesion; a small tumor in a vital spot may lead to profuse hemorrhaging.

In younger women, fibroids may interfere with childbearing, including failure to conceive as well as to disturbances in the baby's development or delivery. Sometimes it is difficult to distinguish uterine fibroids from cancerous growths. Dilatation and curettage may be needed to tell the difference.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on fibroid tumors if stamped self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

ONE MAN'S OPINION
J. A. writes: Does aspirin reduce the cholesterol in the body by thinning the blood?

REPLY
The only report I have seen on this subject came from Dr. M. Eidlitz of Tel Aviv. He gave aspirin to 10 patients who were recovering from heart attacks and their blood cholesterol

Homestead Adjustment Is Granted

Arthur M. Sestak told the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday he would have to build his house either with no setback from Fernside Avenue in Homestead Valley or build it over a creek.

Mrs. Charles L. Cutting, representing the Homestead Valley Improvement Assn., said use of a deck on the street to provide parking would seriously interfere with traffic, besides setting an objectionable precedent.

She agreed, however, that there was no other way, feasibly, to develop the lot.

"Have you people considered buying the property and turning it into a park?" asked Commissioner Henry C. Hankins.

Commissioner William F. Upton asked for a check by the planning staff to assure that there had been no illegal land subdivision. With that condition, the adjustment was approved.

The commission also approved an adjustment for Victor C. Banks to build what looked like a four-story duplex at 2344 Mar East Street, Tiburon.

Planning director B. D. Dobbs said that technically the building was only three stories high because there was only three stories of developed space above any spot of ground on the steep lot. The adjustment allowed a garage three feet from the property line.

VAN DELLEN

dropped. No one, to my knowledge, has substantiated or disproved these findings.

WINTER SKIN

C. H. writes: Why does chapping occur in some persons and not in others?

REPLY

Skin textures vary and so does the humidity in different homes and offices. In addition, some persons take better care of the skin and dress properly in cold weather. Send self-addressed envelope for leaflet on chapping.

BIRD INFECTION

J. B. writes: What are the signs of parakeet disease?

REPLY

Chills, fever, backache, malaise, muscular aching, lack of appetite, or nosebleed may occur. Cough, which is a striking symptom in many forms of viral pneumonia, is minimal or absent in psittacosis, or may occur later.

DRAINING EAR

J. V. C. writes: Would a plane trip make a running ear worse?

REPLY

No, because the drum is open when there is a discharge; consequently, there is no problem with changes in pressure.

Today's Health Hint—Never clean with gasoline or other flammables.

Across Mount Tamalpais To The Bay

From Stinson Beach to Point San Pedro, the whole breadth of Marin is caught in this aerial view.

The scattered houses and summer cabins of Stinson Beach and a big bend in the highway can be seen at the lower right. White hills with fingers of dark trees creeping up the canyons and gullies are the western foothills of Mount Tamalpais.

Mount Tam, which actually looks lower than the foothills from this angle, is distinguished by roadways and trails zig-zagging toward its summit and the white buildings of the Air Force's radar station.

Beyond and slightly to the right of the peak is Point San Quentin and the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge. With Point San Quentin as a landmark, one can easily locate Corte Madera, the wooded hills of Greenbrae and the densely settled San Rafael.

Beyond San Rafael is Point San Pedro.

To the right of Mount Tamalpais, near the edge of the photo, is the cluster of buildings marking a portion of Mill Valley and Alto.

Much of the land in the mid-foreground is either State Park or watershed reserve of the Marin Municipal Water District. District lakes just barely miss showing up in pictures at the left.

JORDAN L. MARTINELLI JR.
Heads cancer campaign

Martinelli
Is Cancer
Drive Head

Campaign chairman for the 1964 Marin Cancer Crusade will be Jordan L. Martinelli, Jr., vice president of the Marin County Savings and Loan Assn. The Marin Branch of the American Cancer Society announced today that Martinelli, who lives in Ross with his wife and four children, will head the combined educational and fund-raising drive. The target has been set at $37,122.

Martinelli is a vice president of the Marin Humane Society and former president of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce and member of the San Anselmo City Council.

Martinelli noted that the purpose of the campaign was to support the three main functions of the society—national research (much of which is carried out in the Bay Area), local educational programs, and local service—to patient facilities.

He said captains and campaign workers are needed in all areas of Marin County and invited those interested to call the American Cancer Society office at 18 Mary Street, San Rafael.

Water Board
To Discuss Black
Point District

A resolution of intention to set up an assessment district to provide water to a Black Point area is scheduled for adoption by the North Marin Water District board at its 8 p.m. meeting today at its Novato headquarters.

The resolution calls for a district to extend service to the School Lane-Crest Drive area. The project has been estimated by Jerome B. Gilbert, district engineer, at $210,000, of which the district would pay $60,000 with property owners being assessed for the remainder. Two public hearings will be held before final action.

Also on the agenda are final architectural plans for remodeling the district office and warehouse, quarterly financial report, two extension agreements, and award of contract for a tractor.

GOP Women To Meet Thursday

Mrs. Ben S. Burdo, regional vice president of the California Federation of Republican Women, will speak at Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito Thursday at 8 p.m.

She will address the Tamalpais Federation of Republican Women, headed by Mrs. Hilton Simon of Ross. This will be the first regular 1964 meeting of the Tamalpais Federation.

Mrs. Burdo will discuss "The Aims and Objectives of Women in Politics."

"All Republican women are invited to attend," Mrs. Simon announced.

Special Fund
Growth Cited
By U.N. Aide

UNITED NATIONS (WPS)—All the announcements of the board room were present: colored charts, bar graphs, epigrammatic summaries, dollar columns and trend lines. But the managing director's real message came clear in two sentences.

An $870,000 survey on how to modernize the telecommunications network of six Central American countries, he reported, had already led to a 194-million-dollar investment by the World Bank in making the recommended improvements in Costa Rica and El Salvador. And financing is near for comparable updating of equipment in the other countries, he noted.

The speaker was Paul Hoffman, chief of the U.N.'s pre-investment services. He was summarizing the first five years of the operation which is called the Special Fund.

He was clinching the point that the fund's resource surveys, feasibility studies and training programs are leading to enlarged investment. Another example he cited was the cycle of economic growth now anticipated in East Pakistan following a large-scale coal discovery there during a U.N. mineral survey.

In 1963, the Special Fund spent 44 million dollars on pre-investment projects, and it will spend over twice that much in 1964, Hoffman predicted. This will bring its outlays level with or above its present income.

Capital Loss
Abroad Told

WASHINGTON (WPS)—The outflow of indigenous capital from the countries seeking it for industrialization averaged, during the last decade, about one-third of the inflow of new private investment from abroad.

The International Monetary Fund has called this to the attention of the participants in the Conference on Trade and Development which opens March 23 in Geneva.

Some of this loss of capital reflects the response of Europeans to political change in such places as Algeria, the Congo, the Rhodesias, etc.

But other elements in this "capital flight," particularly from Latin America, indicate subterfuge to bypass regulations on foreign currencies.

This is done by overstating import charges or failing to repatriate external earnings.

The IMF has also doused cold water on the hopes of the developing countries for large-scale income from "invisibles" such as tourism.

"... The ability of most underdeveloped countries to attract large numbers of foreign visitors is at present limited," it notes in another conference paper. "The only countries... that show large receipts from foreign travel are a few, such as Mexico and Spain, which combine beautiful scenery and historical monuments with closeness to high income countries."

Planning Session

There will be a hearing to establish as a precise plan the future right-of-way line of Rodeo Avenue before the Sausalito Planning Commission tomorrow at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Plans Asked
For Building
Along Creek

A homebuilder accused in San Anselmo of causing creek flooding in the Alameda-Deer Hollow Road area has been required to submit construction plans for city council approval before proceeding, City Engineer Richard Sypher said yesterday.

Last Tuesday, two residents told the council their property was flooded in January because the builder, Harry Johnson of Marin Home Investment Builders, Mill Valley, filled the creek bed and installed a 30-inch concrete pipe.

No time limit was set for presentation of the plans, Sypher said, but a stop order was issued on the construction until requirements are met.

Underground
Phone Lines
For Mill Valley

Tile conduits are to be placed underground within 30 days on portions of four Mill Valley streets to carry telephone feeder cable and make way for growing telephone service, Charles F. Berlenbach Jr., Southern Marin manager of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., said today.

Installation will be in the center strip on Miller Avenue between Park and Montford avenues, west on Montford to Ethel Lane, and then north to Loring Drive.

Berlenbach said the job has nothing to do with the fact the city passed an ordinance last year calling for underground utilities in the Locust business district. However, there is a spare duct in the conduits to handle future underground utilities, he said. Telephone poles will remain in these areas, Berlenbach said, to carry the distribution cable.

Watercolor Show

Watercolor paintings of artist Alfred Owles will be exhibited at the Torrence Gallery, 128 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo, during March.

Two-Story Building
'Too Close'

After hearing protests from neighboring residents, the Marin County Planning Commission decided yesterday that a two-story medical building at 32 Reed Street, just outside Mill Valley, would be too close to residences.

The Commission denied an application by Dr. I. N. Tucker for a reduced side yard setback for the building.

TOO CLOSE

Mrs. Oscar Loudon of 28 Reed Street said the reduction from 10 feet to six feet put the building too close to her property. Mrs. Fred Foss of 595 Ethel Avenue said the building would create a drainage problem.

The Commission approved, however, addition of an X-ray transformer shed to an existing medical building on the adjoining lot at 25 Evergreen Avenue, with a side yard setback of only 4 1/2 feet.

DECISION PUT OFF

Decision on architectural approval of the proposed two-story building was postponed until plans are revised.

Commissioners also granted a side yard setback reduction from 20 to 10 feet sought by Joseph Bonomolo at 23 Knoll Way, Los Ranchitos, which had been denied last October. The planning staff reported adjacent property within the city limits of San Rafael has a 10-foot setback.

Ark Dwellers
'Can't Afford'
Sewer Lines

Marin Houseboat Dwellers Assn. members decided at a meeting Sunday to ask the board of supervisors Feb. 25 to modify the sewer ordinance to permit ark and boat dwellers to use chemical toilets in lieu of hooking up to the lines of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District. The ordinance, said new president James Healy, "Our only quarrel is with the impossible problem of hooking up. It's economically unfeasible and we cannot form a district because we don't own the property."

Frank I. Lawson, chairman of the sanitary district board, told the 70 boat dwellers he felt chemical toilets might be an interim solution, although he was speaking as one board member and unofficially.

Healy, of 839 Marin Drive, Mill Valley, was elected president of the association; Dean M. Jennings and James Brogan, members of the executive committee; Margaret Quick, secretary, and Mimi Tellis, treasurer.
